Staff Gets Final Work On Issues

Details of Session Not Disclosed, as Lower Level Officers Convene in Truce Hut

Panmunjom, June 10 (AP)—United Nations and Communist truce negotiators—their work apparently all but finished—today handed staff officers the job of putting a Korean armistice into final form, then recessed indefinitely.

All signs still pointed to a cease-fire within the week, but these developments clouded the picture:

1—Switzerland announced it would not serve on the five nation prisoner repatriation commission unless South Korea approves the truce.

South Korea's official government spokesman, Dr. Karl Hong Ki, praised the Swiss move as "a very wise decision." He declined comment on how the action would affect a cease-fire.

2—South Korean leaders reiterated bitter opposition and anti-armistice demonstrations raged in Seoul the second straight day.

3—A spokesman for Syngman Rhee dashed reports that the South Korean president will fly to Washington to make a personal appeal against the truce. Rhee, he said, will not leave Korea "at this time of grave situations."

Details Not Disclosed

Details of what went on at today's plenary session at Panmonjom were not disclosed, but the delegates presumably completed their work.

After 23 minutes, they recessed at Communist request subject to call by either side.

Lower level officers then assembled in the tiny truce hut and reportedly went to work on a review of the cease-fire line that will separate allied and Red forces during a truce.

While Rhee and his cabinet secretly discussed the Swiss move, thousands of Korean youths snaked through Seoul streets in apparently well-organized demonstrations.

Shouting "Yankee go home!" they marched on UN and U. S. buildings, but were held back by military police.

In Washington, the Swiss move worried officials. The State Department reportedly made it plain to the Swiss legation that it hoped Switzerland would reconsider.

U. S. authorities feared that unless Switzerland changes its mind, final agreement on the truce would be delayed.

The other four nations named to take custody of the prisoners —India, Sweden, Poland, and Czechoslovakia—were expected to serve. Sweden announced Tuesday it would.

2,500 Lose HomesOver Wide Area

Millions in Damage Reported — Rescuers Still Dig in Debris for Victims

Worcester, Mass., June 10 (AP)—National Guardsmen patrolled the rubble-filled streets of 11 Worcester county communities today as searchers dug through ruins left by a death-dealing tornado that took at least 85 lives, made 2,500 homeless and caused up to $50,000,000 damage.

Authorities feared the death toll might rise. Police said ruins of 200 houses still remained to be searched.

Frantic families visited morgues and hospitals in search of missing relatives and friends. In one Worcester hospital there were eight unidentified bodies.

The worst tornado ever to visit New England whirled in a twisting, destructive path through central Massachusetts during the supper hour yesterday. It spent its fury within 30 minutes.

City Councillor Irving Katz, a real estate man, estimated the damage at $50,000,000. Gov. Herter has declared the stricken sections a disaster area.

In Washington, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation declared stricken sections be qualified for special loan treatment.

Covered by Insurance

A spokesman for insurance companies said probably most homes and automobiles were covered by insurance, as most fire insurance policies and bank mortgage coverage include such damage clauses.

About 400 of the injured were either hospitalized or treated at first aid stations. All sightseers were warned to keep away from the devastated districts.

More than 10,000 volunteers from Massachusetts and other New England states worked to aid the injured and homeless.

The Worcester Housing Authority will give city officials identifications of all persons who own or occupy 2500 housing units in the blasted area.

Gas Mains Leak

State highways, blocked overnight were opened today in the Worcester-Shrewsbury area. Repair crews of the Worcester Public Works Department discovered several leaking gas mains and gas workers were summoned to fix them.

At dawn, eyewitnesses said, the smashed area resembled pictures they had seen of the damaged wrecked by the atom bombs on Japan in World War 2.

Authorities said they won't know how high the death toll might reach until rescue workers finish digging through every pile of debris for those who might possibly still be buried.

Supervisors Name Green; Resolution Lauds Loughran

Ulster Sheriff to Get Increase in Salary

The salary of Ulster county sheriff will be increased from $7,500 to $8,500 beginning January 1, 1954, according to a resolution unanimously passed at last night's special meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

At the request of Sheriff Cluett Schantz an appropriation of $5,000 was made to give the employes in his department a five-day week and to meet unexpected costs of guarding prisoners at hospitals.

Board Will Construct Bridge at Sundown — Lake Katrine Asks No Travel

At Tuesday night's special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, Roland H. Green was officially given provisional appointment as superintendent of the Ulster County Highway Department, and a resolution was adopted praising James F. Loughran for his faithful and efficient service over a span of 44 years in the post.

The resolution was read after Loughran's letter stating that he would not seek re-appointment to the post through the board which designates a superintendent every four years. Green, who received the provisional appointment, has been with the highway department since 1926, and served lately as assistant superintendent.

In his communication stating that he would not seek another term as superintendent of the county department, Loughran said that as chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority he desired to give more time to the increasing problems connected with bridge traffic and building new spans across the Hudson river. Members of the Bridge Authority receive no compensation. His post with the county paid $6,240.

Will Build Bridge

The board voted to construct highway bridge No. 48 at Sundown by securing bids for the construction work. Abutments already have been built for the structure. Another resolution authorized the county treasurer to issue capital notes not to exceed $50,000 to pay for the work.

A petition signed by 283 residents of the Lake Katrine-Leggs Mills bridge area asked that the board prohibit Thruway traffic over the bridge and through that area. Supervisor Kenneth Wilson, chairman of the board, said that the county had asked that Thruway traffic not use this span, because it is not strong enough to bear it, and he further said there are no present plans for opening the Thruway at this point again.

Invited to Conference

The supervisors in a letter from the Town Welfare and Service Officers School of New York State, were invited to attend an annual conference which will be held June 15-16-17 at Hobart-William Smith Colleges, Geneva. The Supervisors Association of New York State invited the local supervisors to an annual convention to be held June 22-23 at Alexandria Bay.

Ulster county is free of rabies and restrictions have been removed, the board was notified by Dr. Robert F. Korns, MD, of the State Department of Health.

A resolution authorized the board's chairman to appoint a committee of three members to determine which county employes are eligible to Social Security under recent legislation.

When the meeting adjourned it did so subject to the call of the chairman, and out of respect to the late Assemblyman John F. Wadlin and former County Treasurer Jay W. Rifenbary, both of whom served as supervisors.

County Would Get Former City Home

Resolution Asks Council Deed Property; Would Use for Elderly

Ulster county asked the Kingston Common Council last night to deed the former city home on Flatbush avenue to the Ulster County Welfare Department for $1 "for the care of those elderly residents of the city and county who are receiving public assistance and who are chronically ill."

The request was in a resolution unanimously passed by the Board of Supervisors at a special meeting last night.

Another fully-favored resolution directed the board's Welfare committee to secure detailed plans and specifications for renovation and equipment of the structure to house and care for the chronically ill, if the Common Council accepts the transfer offer. The resolution estimated the cost of work to be about $250,000.

Proposes Building Use

Supervisor Kenneth Wilson, of Woodstock, sponsor of these resolutions, proposed to the board at a previous meeting that it consider use of the building to give needed care to elderly persons who were chronically ill. He said some of these persons are housed "seven and eight in a room" at nursing homes, and he pointed to new state law which reduces Ulster county's welfare costs in some departments through more state aid and provides 50-50 share of cost by the state for treatment of chronically ill persons who are receiving public assistance.

Mr. Wilson presented to the board a letter from former medical director of the Ulster County TB Hospital, George Weber, M.D., who congratulated him on the plan to use the building for this purpose. Dr. Weber is now stationed at the Veterans Hospital, Oteen, N. C.

Proposal Is Expected

New York, June 10 (AP)—Negotiators for the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) went into session with General Electric Company officials today, and declared beforehand they expected the company to make a wage proposal. The union, headed by James B. Carey, claims to represent 76,000 members in 64 GE plants across the country. The union estimates present GE straight time wages as averaging $1.83 an hour.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 10 (AP)—The position of the Treasury June 8: Net budget receipts $183,021,280.66; budget expenditures $187,677,242.18; cash balance $2,924,331,439.29; customs receipts for month $14,666,616.59; budget receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $56,258,552,855.63; budget expenditures for fiscal year $68,269,910,310.70; budget deficit $12,011,357,455.05; total debt $267,272,727,546.87; increase over previous day $161,672,391.11; gold assets $22,537,423,169.59.

2,000 Students Cry For Yanks to Quit; Rhee's Visit Off

Draft Bureau Gives Order for Korean Men of 19 to 25 Be Ready for Service

Seoul, June 10 (AP) — At least 2,000 young students shouting "Yankee to home!" and other slogans paraded through the streets of Seoul today in the second day of angry demonstrations against an impending armistice.

The new demonstrations erupted as aging President Syngman Rhee announced through a spokesman that he will not leave Korea "at this time of grave situations" to carry a personal protest to Washington.

Gen. Paik Sun Yup, chief of staff of the South Korean Army, arrived here by plane from the U. S. today to take command of the nation's 16 American-trained divisions.

Ready for Call

And South Korea's Draft Bureau ordered all Korean men between 19 and 25 to be ready for call as government leaders reiterated threats to fight on alone if a truce leaves Korea divided.

Men between 17 and 19 and between 25 and 40 were ordered to report their whereabouts and any change in draft status.

Staff officers were working at Panmunjom on final details of a truce which could be signed this week. South Korea already has branded the armistice a "death sentence" and "sell out."

Tension in this war torn land mounted as students paraded through the streets in new government-sponsored anti-armistice demonstrations.

"We oppose armistice" and "we will march north," the students shouted.

But the cry of "Yankee go home" also echoed through the streets—the first time the familiar chant of Japanese Communists has been heard here.

Not Angry, He Says

A correspondent asked one of the Koreans:

"Are you angry at America?"

"No," the boy replied. "I am sorry for this meeting."

Most of the marchers ranged in age from 12 to 19 and were direct-

Nickel Fare Comes Back

Yonkers, June 10 (AP)—The nickel bus fare came back for a day in Yonkers today, but some forgetful riders dropped the usual dime in the box anyway. The Yonkers Railroad Co., slashed its fares 50 per cent for the day in celebration of its first six months of bus operation, after years of operating trolley cars.

White Goes to Jail

George White, 17, of Marlborough, who was arrested by state police today on a disorderly conduct charge, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail when arraigned before Justice Fred C. Woolsey.

Reconsideration by Swiss Is Hoped for by U. S. Officials

Washington, June 10 (AP)—U. S. officials expressed hope today Switzerland would reconsider its refusal to participate in a five nation prisoner of war commission in Korea unless South Korea agrees to the prospective truce.

This attitude is understood to have been made plain to the Swiss legation here by the State Department.

Unless Switzerland changes its decision, authorities feared the whole question of commission membership might have to be reopened between the United Nations command the Communists. That would delay and complicate final agreement terms which may otherwise be reached within a few days.

Swiss Minister Charles Bruggmann delivered a note to the State Department last night giving notice of his government's attitude a few hours after the decision was made at Bern.

The Swiss Federal Council (cabinet) said in a statement that Switzerland could not serve on the commission unless the mandate to do so "were received from all parties to the Korean conflict, including South Korea, and unless Switzerland were permitted to exercise it in full independence and in the common interest of both sides in the conflict."

U. Alexis Johnson, deputy assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs who accepted the note, reportedly told Bruggmann it was hoped his government would reexamine its position and agree to service.

The Swiss note was the first response received here from any of the five nations jointly agreed upon by the UN and Red truce negotiators for supervising, after a truce, prisoners of war who are unwilling to return to Communist rule.

Sweden, however, had announced earlier yesterday it was prepared to serve. Diplomats understood India had indicated willingness to share in the task. Poland and Czechoslovakia, the nominees of the Communist side, are also expected to take part.

The Swiss action threatened a delay in getting a final truce agreement, officials here said, because should Switzerland remain firm in its decision a new country would have to be chosen in negotiations with the Communists. Furthermore, a Swiss refusal might lead India and Sweden to review their own positions on the matter.

Prospects for making a truce effective were already badly clouded by the attitude of the South Korean government. President Syngman Rhee has contended he and his people could not accept any armistice arrangement which would leave Korea divided and has threatened to fight on alone.

Dewey Might Consider Dock Reform Under State Setup

Tillson Awards School Contracts

Construction, Alterations Will Cost $124,135; Starts This Week

Tillson, June 10 (Special) — Contracts totaling $124,135 were awarded Tuesday evening for the construction of additional rooms, and alterations to the present school building in Tillson.

A general construction contract was awarded to the Velletri Construction Company of Poughkeepsie in the amount of $97,950. They plan to start moving in equipment this week.

Shaker, Travis and Quinn of Poughkeepsie were awarded a contract in the amount of $6,310 to install the necessary plumbing. A heating and ventilating contract was awarded to Bank Bros. Plumbing and Heating, of Accord, in the amount of $11,375.

Electrical work will be furnished by Weisblatt Electric Company of Newburgh, who were awarded a contract for $8,500.

To Have Two Classrooms

According to members of the board of education, who signed the contracts, two classrooms will be added and one auditorium. The present class room now used for the third, fourth and fifth grades will be altered, and a kitchen, corridor, principal's office, and storage space will be constructed in that space. The other room of the school will remain the same.

According to the contracts, work should be completed by January 1, 1954.

Members of the board of education are Kenneth Clark, Roy Van Keuren and William Dippel. Architect for the new building is Charles J. Cooke of Poughkeepsie.

Practice Is Agreed

Trenton, N. J., June 10 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll today announced he and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York have agreed on legislation to license and regulate waterfront hiring practices.

Governor Does Not Feel City Can Manage Job; May Call Legislature

New York, June 10 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey searched today for a formula for reform of the New York city waterfront after indicating he does not think the city can do the job.

Dewey seemed to be warming up to proposals for state control of the piers.

Dewey personally conducted the hearings to gather evidence on the commission's proposals to clean up waterfront rackets allegedly bleeding the seven billion dollar shipping industry here of 350 millions annually.

Special Session Likely

It was reported last night that Dewey would call a special session of the State Legislature later this month to act on the commission's proposals, but that he would first confer with New Jersey officials in an effort to agree on uniform controls. The New York port, the world's greatest, has hundreds of miles of pier front in both states.

The main points of the Crime Commission program are creation of a State Division of Port Administration, the registration of longshoremen and other dock workers and state control of their employment, plus the licensing and supervision of most waterfront activities.

A chief aim of the recommendations is to do away with the shape-up, the system of employment under which longshoremen seeking work line up before a hiring boss who picks out the men he wants.

Cavanagh Is Witness

One of the last witnesses at the hearing was Edward F. Cavanagh, Jr., the city's marine commissioner. Cavanagh, representing Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, proposed that for an interim period the city be allowed to carry out the Crime Commission recommendations, rather than the state.

Cavanagh said the city might

Airmen See Twister Over Columbia County

Albany, June 10 (AP)—A blast of cool air spared New York state from any danger of tornadoes yesterday, the weather bureau said.

Airline pilots reported seeing a twister high above Columbia county last night, but no damage was reported. The weather bureau said there was little danger in the state.

Four Resign Posts At Onteora School

Principal and Assistant and Two Teachers Will Not Return

Two top-level vacancies exist at the Onteora Central School today as well as two positions in the teaching staff at the Ulster county school at Boiceville.

Recent resignations at the school included those of Roderick Ayer, supervising principal and Howard Mosher, assistant principal.

On the heels of these two resignations, the board of education last night submitted an invitation to John H. Moehle, the first Onteora Central School principal, to return to the school in that post.

Moehle, who is now coordinator for civil defense in the State Education Department, served as principal at the school for three years before his departure for his new post in Albany.

Teachers Also Quit

Reginald Bennett, district superintendent for the Fourth Supervisory District, also announced today the resignations of two of the teachers at the Onteora School.

He listed those as Mrs. Rhoda Mones, English teacher and Mrs. Milton H. Wagenfohr, art teacher.

According to Bennett, Ayer tentered his resignation as supervising principal last Friday after it became known that Mosher also had offered his resignation.

Was Offered Position

Mosher, who has accepted the position of principal at the Guilderland Central High School, a suburb of Albany, was offered the post at the Onteora Central School during a board meeting Sunday night but the offer was declined since Mosher already was committed to the Albany post which takes effect August 1.

Mosher, who has been at the Onteora School for a year, formerly was a teacher in journalism and other subjects at Solvay, a suburb of Syracuse.

When reached this morning at the school, Ayer said he had no comment to make concerning his resignation. He declined to say whether he had any plans for the future.

Goldberg Is Seized

New York, June 10 (AP)—After eluding a police trap for two days an ex-convict, James M. Goldberg, 24, was arrested today for having threatened to kill a woman and her family. Police said Goldberg, an unemployed kitchen worker whose last address was, Ridgewood, Queens, harbored a grudge against Mrs. Ann Harrison Sulzberger, of the Hotel Alrae, because she was instrumental in sending him to jail in 1949.

Russia to Grant Permission For Wives, Children to Leave

Moscow, June 10 (AP)—The U. S. Embassy announced last night that the Soviet government plans to grant permission to leave Russia to the Russian wives of two American citizens and two Russian-born minor daughters of a woman Embassy employe.

The announcement added that the Soviet government also has under consideration cases of other Soviet wives of American citizens desiring exit visas.

Those to be allowed to depart are the wives of Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press Bureau chief in Moscow, and Robert Tucker, of Kansas City, Mo., an Embassy employe attached to the Press Reading Service, and the two children of Mrs. Ethel Balashova, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Balashova was divorced from a Soviet citizen in a Soviet court which granted her custody of their two girls.

(The United States told the UN General Assembly in December, 1948, that as of that date 350 Soviet wives and 65 Soviet husbands of American citizens were being refused permission by Russia to leave the country. Until today, there has been no announcement that any of these have been given exit visas).

Both the Tucker and Gilmore families plan to leav Moscow soon, when formalities have been completed. They expect to go by way of Helsinki, Finland, and Stockholm, Sweden. The Gilmores have two daughters, Vicky and Sussanna. The Tuckers have no children.

The Embassy announcement came almost a month after U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen took up such cases in a 20-minute conference May 12 with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Businessmen Ask Meters in Uptown Parking Grounds

Parking meters in both the John street and the Main street parking grounds owned by Ulster county were proposed last night by the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association.

Speaking for the merchants at the special meeting of the Board of Supervisors, Attorney James Abernethy said that meters set for two-hour periods would benefit shoppers who cannot now find a parking space on the grounds because of cars which are parked there daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. He included lawyers as well as merchants and clerks in the all-day parkers.

From his office window, he said, he sees the same cars parked day after day, and he believed that parking meters would provide a "larger turnover" and provide "controlled" parking such as is being used in other cities.

The new parking space provided by the merchants to the west of North Front street, he said, is being well used; a stairway is being built for use of parkers and he reported that the Montgomery Ward store elevator is available for parkers and he understands that an additional elevator is being planned for the store.

He emphasized, however, that meters in the county parking grounds would ease the parking situation for shoppers in the uptown area.

Man Is Executed

Huntsville, Tex., June 10 (AP)—Jack Farmer, 54, was electrocuted early today for shooting his second wife after his first wife and eight children had given up their macabre vigil in a funeral home. Farmer smiled as he took a final puff on a cigarette and was strapped into the electric chair. He told witnesses, "make a good fight." He was pronounced dead at 12:07 a. m. (CST). Farmer was convicted of murder in the slaying of his second wife in a Lubbock cafe on March 5, 1951. He said "no one will understand the reason for the killing. I was in a drunken stupor." Mrs. Annie Farmer, his first wife, said he had always been "a good man and a good father."

Mr. Wilson presented to the board a letter from former medical director of the Ulster County TB Hospital, George Weber, M.D., who congratulated him on the plan to use the building for this purpose. Dr. Weber is now stationed at the Veterans Hospital, Oteen, N. C.

Proposal Is Expected

New York, June 10 (AP)—Negotiators for the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) went into session with General Electric Company officials today, and declared beforehand they expected the company to make a wage proposal. The union, headed by James B. Carey, claims to represent 76,000 members in 64 GE plants across the country. The union estimates present GE straight time wages as averaging $1.83 an hour.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 10 (AP)—The position of the Treasury June 8: Net budget receipts $183,021,280.66; budget expenditures $187,677,242.18; cash balance $2,924,331,439.29; customs receipts for month $14,666,616.59; budget receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $56,258,552,855.63; budget expenditures for fiscal year $68,269,910,310.70; budget deficit $12,011,357,455.05; total debt $267,272,727,546.87; increase over previous day $161,672,391.11; gold assets $22,537,423,169.59.

2,000 Students Cry For Yanks to Quit; Rhee's Visit Off

Draft Bureau Gives Order for Korean Men of 19 to 25 Be Ready for Service

Seoul, June 10 (AP) — At least 2,000 young students shouting "Yankee to home!" and other slogans paraded through the streets of Seoul today in the second day of angry demonstrations against an impending armistice.

The new demonstrations erupted as aging President Syngman Rhee announced through a spokesman that he will not leave Korea "at this time of grave situations" to carry a personal protest to Washington.

Gen. Paik Sun Yup, chief of staff of the South Korean Army, arrived here by plane from the U. S. today to take command of the nation's 16 American-trained divisions.

Ready for Call

And South Korea's Draft Bureau ordered all Korean men between 19 and 25 to be ready for call as government leaders reiterated threats to fight on alone if a truce leaves Korea divided.

Men between 17 and 19 and between 25 and 40 were ordered to report their whereabouts and any change in draft status.

Staff officers were working at Panmunjom on final details of a truce which could be signed this week. South Korea already has branded the armistice a "death sentence" and "sell out."

Tension in this war torn land mounted as students paraded through the streets in new government-sponsored anti-armistice demonstrations.

"We oppose armistice" and "we will march north," the students shouted.

But the cry of 'Yankee go home" also echoed through the streets—the first time the familiar chant of Japanese Communists has been heard here.

Not Angry, He Says

A correspondent asked one of the Koreans:

"Are you angry at America?"

"No," the boy replied. "I am sorry for this meeting."

Most of the marchers ranged in age from 12 to 19 and were direct-

Nickel Fare Comes Back

Yonkers, June 10 (AP)—The nickel bus fare came back for a day in Yonkers today, but some forgetful riders dropped the usual dime in the box anyway. The Yonkers Railroad Co., slashed its fares 50 per cent for the day in celebration of its first six months of bus operation, after years of operating trolley cars.

White Goes to Jail

George White, 17, of Marlborough, who was arrested by state police today on a disorderly conduct charge, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail when arraigned before Justice Fred C. Woolsey.

Reconsideration by Swiss Is Hoped for by U. S. Officials

Washington, June 10 (AP)—U. S. officials expressed hope today Switzerland would reconsider its refusal to participate in a five nation prisoner of war commission in Korea unless South Korea agrees to the prospective truce.

This attitude is understood to have been made plain to the Swiss legation here by the State Department.

Unless Switzerland changes its decision, authorities feared the whole question of commission membership might have to be reopened between the United Nations command the Communists. That would delay and complicate final agreement terms which may otherwise be reached within a few days.

Swiss Minister Charles Bruggmann delivered a note to the State Department last night giving notice of his government's attitude a few hours after the decision was made at Bern.

The Swiss Federal Council (cabinet) said in a statement that Switzerland could not serve on the commission unless the mandate to do so "were received from all parties to the Korean conflict, including South Korea, and unless Switzerland were permitted to exercise it in full independence and in the common interest of both sides in the conflict."

U. Alexis Johnson, deputy assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs who accepted the note, reportedly told Bruggmann it was hoped his government would reexamine its position and agree to service.

The Swiss note was the first response received here from any of the five nations jointly agreed upon by the UN and Red truce negotiators for supervising, after a truce, prisoners of war who are unwilling to return to Communist rule.

Sweden, however, had announced earlier yesterday it was prepared to serve. Diplomats understood India had indicated willingness to share in the task. Poland and Czechoslovakia, the nominees of the Communist side, are also expected to take part.

The Swiss action threatened a delay in getting a final truce agreement, officials here said, because should Switzerland remain firm in its decision a new country would have to be chosen in negotiations with the Communists. Furthermore, a Swiss refusal might lead India and Sweden to review their own positions on the matter.

Prospects for making a truce effective were already badly clouded by the attitude of the South Korean government. President Syngman Rhee has contended he and his people could not accept any armistice arrangement which would leave Korea divided and has threatened to fight on alone.

Dewey Might Consider Dock Reform Under State Setup

Governor Does Not Feel City Can Manage Job; May Call Legislature

New York, June 10 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey searched today for a formula for reform of the New York city waterfront after indicating he does not think the city can do the job.

Dewey seemed to be warming up to proposals for state control of the piers.

Dewey personally conducted the hearings to gather evidence on the commission's proposals to clean up waterfront rackets allegedly bleeding the seven billion dollar shipping industry here of 350 millions annually.

Special Session Likely

It was reported last night that Dewey would call a special session of the State Legislature later this month to act on the commission's proposals, but that he would first confer with New Jersey officials in an effort to agree on uniform controls. The New York port, the world's greatest, has hundreds of miles of pier front in both states.

The main points of the Crime Commission program are creation of a State Division of Port Administration, the registration of longshoremen and other dock workers and state control of their employment, plus the licensing and supervision of most waterfront activities.

A chief aim of the recommendations is to do away with the shape-up, the system of employment under which longshoremen seeking work line up before a hiring boss who picks out the men he wants.

Cavanagh Is Witness

One of the last witnesses at the hearing was Edward F. Cavanagh, Jr., the city's marine commissioner. Cavanagh, representing Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, proposed that for an interim period the city be allowed to carry out the Crime Commission recommendations, rather than the state.

Cavanagh said the city might

Tillson Awards School Contracts

Construction, Alterations Will Cost $124,135; Starts This Week

Tillson, June 10 (Special) — Contracts totaling $124,135 were awarded Tuesday evening for the construction of additional rooms, and alterations to the present school building in Tillson.

A general construction contract was awarded to the Velletri Construction Company of Poughkeepsie in the amount of $97,950. They plan to start moving in equipment this week.

Shaker, Travis and Quinn of Poughkeepsie were awarded a contract in the amount of $6,310 to install the necessary plumbing. A heating and ventilating contract was awarded to Bank Bros. Plumbing and Heating, of Accord, in the amount of $11,375.

Electrical work will be furnished by Weisblatt Electric Company of Newburgh, who were awarded a contract for $8,500.

To Have Two Classrooms

According to members of the board of education, who signed the contracts, two classrooms will be added and one auditorium. The present class room now used for the third, fourth and fifth grades will be altered, and a kitchen, corridor, principal's office, and storage space will be constructed in that space. The other room of the school will remain the same.

According to the contracts, work should be completed by January 1, 1954.

Members of the board of education are Kenneth Clark, Roy Van Keuren and William Dippel. Architect for the new building is Charles J. Cooke of Poughkeepsie.

Practice Is Agreed

Trenton, N. J., June 10 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll today announced he and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York have agreed on legislation to license and regulate waterfront hiring practices.

Airmen See Twister Over Columbia County

Albany, June 10 (AP)—A blast of cool air spared New York state from any danger of tornadoes yesterday, the weather bureau said.

Airline pilots reported seeing a twister high above Columbia county last night, but no damage was reported. The weather bureau said there was little danger in the state.

Four Resign Posts At Onteora School

Principal and Assistant and Two Teachers Will Not Return

Two top-level vacancies exist at the Onteora Central School today as well as two positions in the teaching staff at the Ulster county school at Boiceville.

Recent resignations at the school included those of Roderick Ayer, supervising principal and Howard Mosher, assistant principal.

On the heels of these two resignations, the board of education last night submitted an invitation to John H. Moehle, the first Onteora Central School principal, to return to the school in that post.

Moehle, who is now coordinator for civil defense in the State Education Department, served as principal at the school for three years before his departure for his new post in Albany.

Teachers Also Quit

Reginald Bennett, district superintendent for the Fourth Supervisory District, also announced today the resignations of two of the teachers at the Onteora School.

He listed those as Mrs. Rhoda Mones, English teacher and Mrs. Milton H. Wagenfohr, art teacher.

According to Bennett, Ayer tentered his resignation as supervising principal last Friday after it became known that Mosher also had offered his resignation.

Was Offered Position

Mosher, who has accepted the position of principal at the Guilderland Central High School, a suburb of Albany, was offered the post at the Onteora Central School during a board meeting Sunday night but the offer was declined since Mosher already was committed to the Albany post which takes effect August 1.

Mosher, who has been at the Onteora School for a year, formerly was a teacher in journalism and other subjects at Solvay, a suburb of Syracuse.

When reached this morning at the school, Ayer said he had no comment to make concerning his resignation. He declined to say whether he had any plans for the future.

Goldberg Is Seized

New York, June 10 (AP)—After eluding a police trap for two days an ex-convict, James M. Goldberg, 24, was arrested today for having threatened to kill a woman and her family. Police said Goldberg, an unemployed kitchen worker whose last address was, Ridgewood, Queens, harbored a grudge against Mrs. Ann Harrison Sulzberger, of the Hotel Alrae, because she was instrumental in sending him to jail in 1949.

Russia to Grant Permission For Wives, Children to Leave

Moscow, June 10 (AP)—The U. S. Embassy announced last night that the Soviet government plans to grant permission to leave Russia to the Russian wives of two American citizens and two Russian-born minor daughters of a woman Embassy employe.

The announcement added that the Soviet government also has under consideration cases of other Soviet wives of American citizens desiring exit visas.

Those to be allowed to depart are the wives of Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press Bureau chief in Moscow, and Robert Tucker, of Kansas City, Mo., an Embassy employe attached to the Press Reading Service, and the two children of Mrs. Ethel Balashova, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Balashova was divorced from a Soviet citizen in a Soviet court which granted her custody of their two girls.

(The United States told the UN General Assembly in December, 1948, that as of that date 350 Soviet wives and 65 Soviet husbands of American citizens were being refused permission by Russia to leave the country. Until today, there has been no announcement that any of these have been given exit visas).

Both the Tucker and Gilmore families plan to leav Moscow soon, when formalities have been completed. They expect to go by way of Helsinki, Finland, and Stockholm, Sweden. The Gilmores have two daughters, Vicky and Sussanna. The Tuckers have no children.

The Embassy announcement came almost a month after U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen took up such cases in a 20-minute conference May 12 with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Businessmen Ask Meters in Uptown Parking Grounds

Parking meters in both the John street and the Main street parking grounds owned by Ulster county were proposed last night by the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association.

Speaking for the merchants at the special meeting of the Board of Supervisors, Attorney James Abernethy said that meters set for two-hour periods would benefit shoppers who cannot now find a parking space on the grounds because of cars which are parked there daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. He included lawyers as well as merchants and clerks in the all-day parkers.

From his office window, he said, he sees the same cars parked day after day, and he believed that parking meters would provide a "larger turnover" and provide "controlled" parking such as is being used in other cities.

The new parking space provided by the merchants to the west of North Front street, he said, is being well used; a stairway is being built for use of parkers and he reported that the Montgomery Ward store elevator is available for parkers and he understands that an additional elevator is being planned for the store.

He emphasized, however, that meters in the county parking grounds would ease the parking situation for shoppers in the uptown area.

Men Behind Ike —Liaison Team

(President Eisenhower must make the decisions, but the complex executive task of the man in the White House is many times more than a one-man job. The White House day begins early and ends late for the 19 hard-working men who make up the President's personal headquarters staff. In this timely article, the first of four, Sigrid Arne of the Washington AP Newsfeatures staff, takes you behind the scene for a glimpse of Ike's top aides at work.)

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Five minutes before noon senators pour from the Capitol elevator that brings them to the Senate floor. Talk hums as another law-making day starts.

Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons whisks around a corner, his lively dark eyes scanning the crowd. A senatorial bellow greets him: "Jerry, where've you been? Been trying to get you."

Persons, retired from the army now, heads a four-man White House team that keeps congressional leaders abreast of what President Eisenhower is thinking and doing and keeps his boss filled in on how Congress feels.

Persons and the jovial senator edge into a corner to talk. Three other senators join the group.

One remarks "but, Jerry, I've been told otherwise. Have you any figures?"

Persons hauls three sheets of paper from his pocket and the group pores over them. The Senate opening bell rings unheeded.

"That's different," says one man. "Can I borrow these? I'm speaking this afternoon."

Repeated Many Times

This scene is repeated dozens of times a day as "Jerry" Persons (nobody knows where that "Jerry" came from) and his team talk, talk, talk with congressmen.

The three others on his team are:

Homer H. Gruenther, brother of Gen. Alfred Gruenther, who has just been name chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Armed Forces. Gruenther specializes on talks with senators. "I see four each day," he says, "and just chat."

Byrce N. Harlow, who specializes on the House.

Gerald D. Morgan, a lawyer who is expert at drafting legislation.

Persons' job, frankly, is a form of lobbying. Other Presidents have had aides who saw congressional leaders on special bills, or experts who worked on one phase of policy, like foreign affairs.

This is the first time the White House has had a regular staff which visits Congress day in and day out to talk across the board on congressional problems.

With Every Step

Tall, graying Gruenther describes the job:

"We — the team — stay with every step of a new law sponsored by the White House. The first draft is often turned out in our office, by Morgan. We take it to Congress to see how the leaders feel. We don't concentrate on Republicans. We see Democrats, too.

"Often we run into men who want changes here and there. We take them back to the White House to be ironed out. In the long run we hope this will prevent those blow-ups that have occurred when the White House sent some new bill to a Congress which was unprepared and was caught short on time for study.

"Sometimes I do just the little things anyone would do for a friend. I have a senator down for lunch at the White House, in the downstairs staff dining-room, or get an autographed picture of the President for one."

Doesn't all this talk about a bill being written mean news if it leaks before it is presented?

Gives Everyone Chance

"Why sure," he said. "What's wrong with that? It gives everyone a chance to think about it. The reaction gives President Eisenhower an opportunity to know how people feel. We are not in the surprise business."

There have been times in the past when even leaders of the majority party in Congress have been left out of White House planning.

Seasoned reporters in Congress say Persons' team is liked.

"There is no sign that Persons is swapping favors," says one man. "Sure, sometimes a patronage request comes up. Persons can take that back to the White House and I suppose it helps, but it doesn't necessarily nail the job."

Gruenther knew Eisenhower for several years and was asked to join the campaign train to take charge of correspondence and visitors.

Gruenther's father published a paper in Plate Center, Neb. The lad graduated from Creighton University, Omaha, spent World War I in the navy and returned to work for the Omaha Daily News.

Jerry Persons, boss of the team, is thin, wiry, 56 and happy. He sees from four to 50 persons a day.

And if he's in his office his phone calls average 50 to 75 a day.

Never Seems Ruffled

He never seems ruffled. From capital policeman to cabinet member, faces light up when he's mentioned.

His brother Gordon, governor of Alabama, stayed with Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

Persons began as an army engineer, fought in World War I, served at many army posts.

In December 1950, when Gen. Eisenhower went to Paris to head the NATO armed forces, he found many American agencies in Europe working too independently of each other. He asked for Jerry, who began doing just what he's doing now — explaining programs, keeping the peace, getting cooperation. He also received visiting congressmen.

Harlow worked with Persons at the Pentagon through World War 2. Short, slight, fair and only 36, he has a young family of three, two girls and a boy.

Worked Long on Hill

Harlow has worked on Capitol Hill since he was 21. He came here as secretary of former Rep. Wesley E. Disney (D.-Okla.).

"That was a natural laboratory in government," he says. "I became so impressed by the sheer cost of government that I wrote my thesis at the University of Oklahoma on the ways and means committee."

He also became friends with hundreds of congressmen and their secretaries.

After army duty, Harlow headed for home and the family textbook publishing business in Oklahoma City. In 1947 the military unification bill was passed. Persons phoned "come on up and help." Harlow became secretary of the new House Armed Services Committee. He had agreed to come for a "short time," stayed until 1952. After election Persons called again: "Come and help on this White House job."

Morgan Is 44

Gerald Morgan, slim and dynamic like his boss, is 44, with thick gray hair and deep gray eyes. He's the expert on drafting laws. That takes a great deal of research and a great deal of running back and forth to the Capitol to see how congressional leaders react.

Born in New York, Morgan graduated from Princeton in 1930 and from Harvard Law School in 1933. In 1935 he began drafting laws on the staff of the House Legislative Council. In 1946 he left to enter private practice. His White House job meant a big cut in income. He has four children.

Almost every man on the White House staff today has had to throw over a private career, work harder and take less money.

One explains: "Well, we're Republicans. We believe in what Eisenhower is doing. When we were asked to help there was only one thing we could do. Junk our plans and get to work.

"That also explains why we work such long hours. And don't forget a White House job is a great honor."

Men Behind Ike —Liaison Team

(President Eisenhower must make the decisions, but the complex executive task of the man in the White House is many times more than a one-man job. The White House day begins early and ends late for the 19 hard-working men who make up the President's personal headquarters staff. In this timely article, the first of four, Sigrid Arne of the Washington AP Newsfeatures staff, takes you behind the scene for a glimpse of Ike's top aides at work.)

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Five minutes before noon senators pour from the Capitol elevator that brings them to the Senate floor. Talk hums as another law-making day starts.

Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons whisks around a corner, his lively dark eyes scanning the crowd. A senatorial bellow greets him: "Jerry, where've you been? Been trying to get you."

Persons, retired from the army now, heads a four-man White House team that keeps congressional leaders abreast of what President Eisenhower is thinking and doing and keeps his boss filled in on how Congress feels.

Persons and the jovial senator edge into a corner to talk. Three other senators join the group.

One remarks "but, Jerry, I've been told otherwise. Have you any figures?"

Persons hauls three sheets of paper from his pocket and the group pores over them. The Senate opening bell rings unheeded.

"That's different," says one man. "Can I borrow these? I'm speaking this afternoon."

NO BARTER FOR REDS

Pravda, which speaks with the voice of full authority in Soviet Russia, recently reprimanded those in Russia who have been advocating the abandonment of the monetary system and the adoption of barter as a means of exchange. According to the editorial in Pravda, the monetary system will prevail in the Soviet Union for a long time to come.

Before his death Joseph Stalin published a work called the "Economic Problems of Socialism in the U.S.S.R." In it he said that the ultimate goal of the Communist system must be a "product exchange" or barter system. The recent Pravda comment, while it did not say so in so many words, may be regarded as a refutation of Stalin's ideas on the subject.

Communism is supposed to be based on the writings of Karl Marx, who bitterly detested capitalism and the so called "class societies" which result from capitalism. He was convinced that labor through the ages had been exploited by capitalism and that only a socialist revolution could guarantee the workers of the world a fair chance at the better things of life. Yet in Russia, the cradle of communism in practice, workers are exploited to a far greater degree than was ever the case in any capitalistic state. Classes exist and the difference between one class and another, as far as standards of living and privileges are concerned, are quite distinct.

It is no surprise that the Kremlin intends to retain the monetary system as the basis of trade. Consistency has never troubled the Reds. They will continue to preach that money is the root of all evil—other people's money, that is.

YOUNGER VOTERS

President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon are strongly in favor of reducing the the voting age to 18. The announcement is made by Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee. At present only Georgia has adopted this plan, though it has had support in other states.

The arguments for it are twofold. One is that anyone old enough to fight is old enough to vote, and entitled to a voice in a national policy which may send him overseas to fight. The other is that adding younger voters to the rolls will bring in a youthful and idealistic group who may neutralize to some extent the tendency to habitual and unreasoning conservatism that is the danger of the mature voter.

DULLES ASKS DISCRETION

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, returned from a tour of the Near East and South Asia, called for a cautious policy in dealing with our allies and with the nations we would like to count on our side in any showdown against communism. He said that a Middle East defense pact may come in the future but no such alliance seems likely soon. This is disappointing to those who hoped that despite the difficulties involved some method of uniting the Middle East in common defense against communism might be found.

Secretary of State Dulles pointed out that many powers in the Middle East are as afraid of France and Britain as they are of Russia. Because the United States is allied with both these countries we also come under suspicion. Some of this distrust is due to past mistakes. Some is caused by the ranting and propaganda of Communists and fanatical nationalist leaders. But whatever the cause of the distrust we shall have to take steps to eradicate it.

There are times when we lose patience with those countries who hesitate though their own interests should make them our allies against any possible aggression. But we must remember that these people have problems even as we do, that they, too, fail to understand and agree with all our actions. If we wish to remain a world leader we will have to face the fact that living with other countries calls for give and take. Secretary of States Dulles is wise to advise caution and patience.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

SURELY, IT IS NOT SO

Joseph C. Harsch has described President Eisenhower's attitude toward Senator Joe McCarthy as "first to isolate, then blockade, and finally, if necessary and given the legal capability, to crush him." This tactic, Harsch speculates, is "remarkably similar to the strategy F.D.R. employed toward Huey Long just 20 years ago."

As I recall it, Huey Long was assassinated. There is a conflict of opinion as to who did the killing, an eye doctor who was shot by Long's guards, or the guards themselves. Nobody at the time accused Franklin D. Roosevelt of arranging for the assassination. Perhaps Mr. Harsch has some new evidence to bear out the assumption that it was the President of the United States who crushed the Kingfish.

Actually, when Huey Long was assassinated, he was neither isolated nor blockaded. He was preparing for a test of power within the Democratic Party. I saw something of Huey Long some little time before he was assassinated. He was neither frightened nor discouraged.

In these days, we draw many false parallels and therefore unreasoned conclusions. Huey Long and Joe McCarthy are in no way similar. Long opposed his President; McCarthy supports his. Long hoped to succeed Roosevelt; McCarthy does not expect to succeed Eisenhower or anyone else.

Long, a profound student of history, foresaw the result of the confusions of the New Deal and hoped to take advantage of them. McCarthy is not an historian; he is by nature an investigator, a prosecuting attorney. Long was as capable of leaving his party as Wayne Morse is; McCarthy submits to party discipline.

Many who dislike McCarthy for one reason or another feel that he is opposed or disloyal to President Eisenhower and they dislike him the more for that. Unfortunately for their point of view, in the complex nature of the Wisconsin Senator, party loyalty is an essential.

I can cite one conclusive example: although the McCarthy Committee uncovered the weaknesses of the International Information Administration and the Voice of America, McCarthy also discovered its strength and its value. He also accepted as correct the view that not he but the President was the final authority in the selection of the administrative head of this operation. He, therefore, gave this service his full support, which surprised many who thought that he was after it to destroy it.

He placed at Dr. Robert L. Johnson's disposal the published and unpublished data produced by his investigation, and the use, for special information, of his investigators, Roy Cohn and David Schine.

At their first meeting, Joe McCarthy and Dr. Robert L. Johnson did not spar. McCarthy opened with the direct statement: "You have done a remarkable job during the past three or four weeks."

As their conversation proceeded, it was clear that Dr. Johnson had not anticipated such support, so many constructive suggestions, and only this one word of criticism:

"I find that you, like so many other good men, cannot believe that other men are not so well-intentioned. This you will learn as you stay on this job."

When Dr. Johnson said that he could not do a good job of reorganization under the constant barrage of criticism which wasted the time and energy of his staff, McCarthy answered:

"You inherited a mess. You need all the help you can get to clean it up, so that you can do a fine job. Men like you are needed in our government. Don't talk about resigning no matter how tough the going is. Once the mess of Achesonism is cleaned up, the Eisenhower Administration will prove itself."

This is no second-hand report of a conversation; it is a condensation of several hours of discussion. I think that it gives another view of McCarthy. Knowing the activities of Senator McCarthy, I am sure that my thesis that there is no greater conflict between McCarthy and Eisenhower than is normal in a country where there is a separation of powers between the Executive and the Legislative is correct. If anything, the record will show that the Wisconsin Senator supports his party with regularity.

And this must be said for President Eisenhower: He is a stickler for constitutional government, and those who have tried to push him into a fight with Congress, have thus far failed. It is refreshing to have a President who respects the Constitution and the rights and functions of Congress.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

ANTIBIOTICS

When a physician begins the treatment of a certain diseased condition and knows that in the great majority of cases he will bring the patient safely through his illness because of a recently discovered method of treatment, we know that he will be grateful in spirit to the discoverer or discoverers of this new method of treatment.

Similarly with the surgeon as he treats a diseased condition surgically, knowing that he has a great helper in a recently discovered method of treatment.

I have in mind, of course, the new drugs or chemicals known as antibiotics because they kill, or render harmless, dangerous organisms, which, if not battled successfully, mean death or chronic illness of the patient.

In the South Dakota Journal of Medicine, Dr. J. Erhlich describes the seven antibiotics in clinical or practical use today and the inherent properties which determine the medical usefulness of an antibiotic.

What are these inherent or inherited properties that make up these substances known as antibiotics?

There are seven antibiotics in clinical use and an antibiotic must have the following properties. It must have a specific or special action against the organisms causing the specific or special disease or symptoms. It must be potent and effective against the disease-producing organism in the test tube, in animal trials, and in the clinic with human beings.

"The antibiotic must be safe for human beings and its chemical and physical characteristics must permit its administration by various routes into the body, that is by mouth, by injection, and by local application. It must be able to penetrate tissue barriers to reach all organs of the body."

It so happens that the size and composition of an antibiotic affects or influences the ease with which it is absorbed into the blood stream from the small intestine. Streptomycin, large size, is slow and difficult in absorption, whereas chloromycetin, a small antibiotic molecule, is well and easily absorbed.

Of the seven antibiotics in use, two are produced by bacilli (tiny organisms) typrothricin and bacitracin; penicillin by penicillin molds, and the remaining four by actinomycetes (mold-like bacteria).

From the above, physicians, surgeons, and the entire public can rest assured that the search for new antibiotics will be patiently continued and the findings made available to everybody.

Pretty Hard to Swallow

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA) — One of the first orders issued by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles after he took office was that fewer State Department messages should be sent by cable and more should be sent by airgram. Following up on this economy move, stiffer orders have gone out to restrict the number of overseas telephone calls. Attention has been called to old regulations which forbid the use of the office telephones for personal calls. Employes were told to use the pay stations, located in the halls.

So the other day an official-looking notice was circulated surreptitiously through State Department offices, telling employes that of late they had been using the elevators too much. This resulted in too much wear and tear on the elevator buttons and too much strain on the cables and the elevator operators.

To economize, employes were told in official lingo that hereafter they should throw a rope out the window and leave the building by this manner if they were on the lower floors. Employes above the sixth floor were told to stay there from 9 a. m. to 5. p. m.

While all this made a good gag, and it was circulated as good clean fun to kid the new brass, employes who had copies of the memorandum are now so scared of losing their jobs that they asked reporters not to print the fake order, for fear it would be traced back to the originators.

"My Little Bill"

Rep. Dan Reed of New York, Republican chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, should probably get credit for the record understatement of the 83rd Congress, so far. Representative Reed is of course author of the proposal to cut personal income taxes by 11 per cent, effective July 1, and end the excess profits tax. If it is passed, it will reduce government receipts by $5 billion. That will further unbalance the budget and possibly throw the national debt over the present statutory limit of $275 billion. The Reed bill therefore has the Eisenhower administration scared stiff.

Yet Representative Reed calls it simply, "My little bill."

He Sleeps Well

In spite of the beating which Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has taken from Congress ever since he came to Washington, he reports that he sleeps well at night and doesn't feel frustrated.

The new military budget is considered sound. The new Joint Chiefs of Staff organization is considered excellent. A reorganization bill for the Department of Defense is now before Congress.

All this in a little over four months is considered not too bad a record.

Reds Invent Parachute

The latest thing the Russians have invented, according to Moscow radio home service, is the parachute. It is credited to a Russian inventor, Kotelnikov. His father saw an airplane accident in 1910. This set the young inventor to work, and in 1911 he took out a patent. Only trouble with this claim is that the parachute had been invented 123 years before, by a French doctor named Lenormand.

Big Bill Impractical

The Senate was debating Virginia Sen. Harry F. Byrd's proposal to put all government appropriation bills in one package. Sen. Carl Hayden was explaining how, when they tried this in 1950, the big bill passed the House on July 8, passed the Senate Aug. 4, went into conference and became a law only on Sept. 6 It was too bulky, unworkable and impracticable a bill to handle, Senator Hayden protested. It covered 482 pages and weighed 1½ pounds.

"How long has the senator from Arizona been a member of the Appropriations Committee?" asked Sen. Harley Kilgore of West Virginia.

"Too long," replied Senator Hayden frankly. "I've been a member since 1927."

Monitors Find Trouble

Federal Communications monitoring service has found that one of its biggest headaches in keeping radio channels clear comes from a wide variety of electric devices and from boys who build transmitters from war surplus or spare parts. These amateurs go on the air with the idea that their operation is too localized to cause interference. This is a mistaken notion, says FCC, because weak signals sometimes skip-jump for great distances to play hob with authorized radio communication.

In one case an electric glue drier used by a furniture factory in Pennsylvania was found to be interfering with aircraft radio on the west coast, 2000 miles away. In another case a small home-made record player disrupted broadcast reception within 15 miles and annoyed many listeners in a 500-mile radius. Blotting out an aviation channel was traced to a heating pad.

Navy Economies

Navy Department has had inspection teams in its two largest Naval districts, at New York and San Diego, trying to find where money was being spent that didn't contribute to combat effectiveness. One of the first discoveries was that nearly 30 per cent of all storage space was taken up with surplus materials for which there is no longer any use.

The old Navy rule of thumb is that there must be nine months' reserve supply of everything on hand. This went for even such things as hammers. An order has gone out now to cut down on stores wherever money can be saved without impairing striking power.

Of the $1.65 billion cut in the Navy budget for next year—from $11.3 billion to $9.65 billion—it is estimated that about half came from economies. The other half was an arbitrary cutback.

Reduce Navy Air Arm

Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson revealed to the Senate Military Affairs Committee that Naval aviation was woefully weak on jet aircraft. Out of the nearly 10,000 operational Navy planes, only 1600 are modern jet aircraft. This ratio will be more than doubled in the next year and a half.

While this modernization is going on, Navy and Marine operational aircraft will be cut back 200 planes this year and 500 the year after. Navy aircraft procurement has been cut back from an estimated $3.2 billion for the year ending June 30, to $1.9 billion for the 12 months following. This will let the Navy order only about 500 new planes.

The explanation given is that the Navy couldn't fly more planes, even if it had them. It lacks money, gas and personnel. While there has been a great to-do over Air Force cutbacks, nobody seems to be in there fighting for a stronger Naval air arm.

Truce Will Be Bad for Eisenhower, Is Opinion, When Facts Are Understood

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 10—Politically a truce in Korea may help the Eisenhower administration—but only temporarily. Already the subject of how long it will be before the Korean truce as an issue will boomerang against the administration is being discussed here, and some political analysts think the criticism will be overwhelming in six months. Others think nine months.

Judgment is being predicated on the belief that the American people do not at the moment realize what has happened. They have not yet been able to come to a decision because the discussion has just begun. Likewise, in the next few months every act of faithlessness by the Communists in the Far East or in southeast Asia will be pointed to as confirmation of the unwisdom of the Korean agreement.

Questions that will be asked in the debate that will go on inside both the Democratic and Republican parties are these:

1. Why did President Eisenhower accept the provisions laid down by the Truman-Acheson administration when a new negotiation could have been begun with new terms when the talks were resumed in April after having been broken off last autumn?

2. Why do spokesmen for the United Nations and for the administration insist that aggression has been "repelled" in Korea, when the aggressor as formally named by the UN—Red China—still has 700,000 troops stationed in the middle of Korea, having come all the way from the Yalu river to the present battle line?

3. Why, after the aggression of the North Korean armies was halted in October 1950, did the UN armies receive permission from the UN allies to cross the 38th Parallel and drive toward the Yalu river?

4. Why were casualties incurred if victory and the unification of Korea had been abandoned as military objectives and the sole purpose was to "repel aggression" at the middle of Korea?

5. Why did President Eisenhower offer the Republic of Korea a mutual-defense pact with the United States alone when it is the UN which has presumably assumed the responsibility for repelling aggression in Korea?

6. Does this mean—as Senator Taft recommended—an abandonment of the UN as a primary means of defending Korea?

7. Why did President Eisenhower in his letter to President Rhee ignore the request of the Republic of Korea that its country be rid of the Communist Chinese troops which invaded Korea and committed acts of aggression formally denounced by the UN?

8. Why were American troops—which, together with the South Koreans, have done almost 90 per cent of the fighting—prevented from using maximum force to win, and why was the plan of General MacArthur submitted last December to President-elect Eisenhower for the winning of the Korean war disregarded?

9. What explanation will be made to the American military forces of the future concerning victory as an objective when the United States concedes it must carry on only such military operations as other governments may dictate to it, even though the enemy is not restricted by an international body or alliance?

10. What explanation will the Truman and Eisenhower administrations give for failure to insist that all trade with Red China and Soviet Russia in strategic materials be cut off during the last three years by all members of the UN.

11. How can the United States remain a member of an international body known as "The United Nations" when, in fact, one set of members has been supplying arms and munitions to help kill the troops of other members. Mostly those of the United States and the Republic of Korea?

12. If there's peace in Korea, why aren't taxes reduced, and why are American boys going to keep on being drafted?

Lots of explanations will be made to gloss over the military defeat which the UN has suffered, and it is tragic that President Eisenhower in his letter forgot about the spirit of the American soldier when he conceded defeat and a weariness of fighting. The plain truth might well have been included—that the troops of the United States and South Korea were not defeated but were prevented from using maximum military power to obtain victory and that the responsibility for the defeat must rest squarely on the British government, which feared that not enough money and troops would be available for Europe if America became engaged in a war to obtain victory in Asia.

This is the first time that a military effort of the United States, in conjunction with allies, has been defeated. The enemy has dictated the terms of the armistice and will dictate the terms of peace. A divided Korea is being rationalized already by administration supporters as an academic objective. Also, the admission of Red China to the UN has been announced as a definite objective of Great Britain, despite protests from this country that this would be a reward for the aggressor. The UN has lost a war it could have won.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

George Sokolsky put his finger on Dave Dubinsky and the whole rotten Communist conspiracy against the capitalist west when he wrote a few days ago that "the followers of David Dubinsky" fought the Communist movement "from a strictly doctrinate position."

"While they often provided an intellectual argument against the Communists," he said, "their strictly doctrinate attitude kept them from really aiding vital anti-Communist movements. As in Europe, so in the United States, most of the social Democrats, while they despised Stalin, adored Karl Marx. Thus, many of them found themselves, at various times, in and out of front groups."

This is the truth of Dubinsky's political operations in Europe through the agency of two of the most notorious and, in the forensic sense only, bloodthirsty barricade fighters in our domestic political history, Jay Lovestone and Irving Brown.

Lovestone is a dark, mysterious figure and I am not sure that this is his real name. Although he is acclaimed in more or less orthodox American papers and magazines by a claque of publicists who might well be called press-agents for the world-socialist movement, Lovestone was an absolute stranger, even by name, to all Americans except a handful of professional Red-baiters and left-wing political conspirators until I began to work him over about 18 months ago.

Dubinsky had the gall to set up his own, as it were, state department to carry out the undeclared but easily verified "foreign policy" which is to create in the countries on our side of the Iron Curtain a "labor" movement strong enough to stand off the Muscovite Communist movement pushing in from Russia.

No sensible man will try to defend a false position and I never have said that Lovestone and Brown were, as of this recent phase, Kremlin Communists. I have said repeatedly, however, that they were just as Red as Stalin ever was and have proved it in their own words from their own publications and from writings and testimony by Lovestone. They both broke with Stalin and the Kremlin, yes, but they have continued to plug for world communism and Lovestone even wrote a demand for a unified world Communist movement long after the break.

The Reader's Digest fell for one article by a fellow who now, in one of those Marshall Field paperback news-stand books, tells us that Brown is one of the 100 most important men in the world. It took me to show up not only Lovestone and Brown but the Reader's Digest which first tried to fight back but tin-canned it when I challenged all of them to cite for me a single line of record showing that Lovestone and/or Brown ever renounced communism and Marx per se.

And I interviewed one of the really great anti-Communists of this grand battle, Ben Gitlow, formerly the head of the party in the United States, to the effect that, after all he had sacrificed to atone for his earlier wrongs, Dubinsky turned his back on him.

Ben was broke and, I understand, still is just shuffling along from day to day when you would expect the leader and financial backer of a real world-anti-Communist program to give him at least an eating job out of his treasury of $166,100,000. But Ben said when he put it to Dave whether a man in his position had no other course open but to jump off Brooklyn bridge, Dave

NO BARTER FOR REDS

Pravda, which speaks with the voice of full authority in Soviet Russia, recently reprimanded those in Russia who have been advocating the abandonment of the monetary system and the adoption of barter as a means of exchange. According to the editorial in Pravda, the monetary system will prevail in the Soviet Union for a long time to come.

Before his death Joseph Stalin published a work called the "Economic Problems of Socialism in the U.S.S.R." In it he said that the ultimate goal of the Communist system must be a "product exchange" or barter system. The recent Pravda comment, while it did not say so in so many words, may be regarded as a refutation of Stalin's ideas on the subject.

Communism is supposed to be based on the writings of Karl Marx, who bitterly detested capitalism and the so called "class societies" which result from capitalism. He was convinced that labor through the ages had been exploited by capitalism and that only a socialist revolution could guarantee the workers of the world a fair chance at the better things of life. Yet in Russia, the cradle of communism in practice, workers are exploited to a far greater degree than was ever the case in any capitalistic state. Classes exist and the difference between one class and another, as far as standards of living and privileges are concerned, are quite distinct.

It is no surprise that the Kremlin intends to retain the monetary system as the basis of trade. Consistency has never troubled the Reds. They will continue to preach that money is the root of all evil—other people's money, that is.

YOUNGER VOTERS

President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon are strongly in favor of reducing the the voting age to 18. The announcement is made by Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee. At present only Georgia has adopted this plan, though it has had support in other states.

The arguments for it are twofold. One is that anyone old enough to fight is old enough to vote, and entitled to a voice in a national policy which may send him overseas to fight. The other is that adding younger voters to the rolls will bring in a youthful and idealistic group who may neutralize to some extent the tendency to habitual and unreasoning conservatism that is the danger of the mature voter.

DULLES ASKS DISCRETION

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, returned from a tour of the Near East and South Asia, called for a cautious policy in dealing with our allies and with the nations we would like to count on our side in any showdown against communism. He said that a Middle East defense pact may come in the future but no such alliance seems likely soon. This is disappointing to those who hoped that despite the difficulties involved some method of uniting the Middle East in common defense against communism might be found.

Secretary of State Dulles pointed out that many powers in the Middle East are as afraid of France and Britain as they are of Russia. Because the United States is allied with both these countries we also come under suspicion. Some of this distrust is due to past mistakes. Some is caused by the ranting and propaganda of Communists and fanatical nationalist leaders. But whatever the cause of the distrust we shall have to take steps to eradicate it.

There are times when we lose patience with those countries who hesitate though their own interests should make them our allies against any possible aggression. But we must remember that these people have problems even as we do, that they, too, fail to understand and agree with all our actions. If we wish to remain a world leader we will have to face the fact that living with other countries calls for give and take. Secretary of States Dulles is wise to advise caution and patience.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

SURELY, IT IS NOT SO

Joseph C. Harsch has described President Eisenhower's attitude toward Senator Joe McCarthy as "first to isolate, then blockade, and finally, if necessary and given the legal capability, to crush him." This tactic, Harsch speculates, is "remarkably similar to the strategy F.D.R. employed toward Huey Long just 20 years ago."

As I recall it, Huey Long was assassinated. There is a conflict of opinion as to who did the killing, an eye doctor who was shot by Long's guards, or the guards themselves. Nobody at the time accused Franklin D. Roosevelt of arranging for the assassination. Perhaps Mr. Harsch has some new evidence to bear out the assumption that it was the President of the United States who crushed the Kingfish.

Actually, when Huey Long was assassinated, he was neither isolated nor blockaded. He was preparing for a test of power within the Democratic Party. I saw something of Huey Long some little time before he was assassinated. He was neither frightened nor discouraged.

In these days, we draw many false parallels and therefore unreasoned conclusions. Huey Long and Joe McCarthy are in no way similar. Long opposed his President; McCarthy supports his. Long hoped to succeed Roosevelt; McCarthy does not expect to succeed Eisenhower or anyone else.

Long, a profound student of history, foresaw the result of the confusions of the New Deal and hoped to take advantage of them. McCarthy is not an historian; he is by nature an investigator, a prosecuting attorney. Long was as capable of leaving his party as Wayne Morse is; McCarthy submits to party discipline.

Many who dislike McCarthy for one reason or another feel that he is opposed or disloyal to President Eisenhower and they dislike him the more for that. Unfortunately for their point of view, in the complex nature of the Wisconsin Senator, party loyalty is an essential.

I can cite one conclusive example: although the McCarthy Committee uncovered the weaknesses of the International Information Administration and the Voice of America, McCarthy also discovered its strength and its value. He also accepted as correct the view that not he but the President was the final authority in the selection of the administrative head of this operation. He, therefore, gave this service his full support, which surprised many who thought that he was after it to destroy it.

He placed at Dr. Robert L. Johnson's disposal the published and unpublished data produced by his investigation, and the use, for special information, of his investigators, Roy Cohn and David Schine.

At their first meeting, Joe McCarthy and Dr. Robert L. Johnson did not spar. McCarthy opened with the direct statement: "You have done a remarkable job during the past three or four weeks."

As their conversation proceeded, it was clear that Dr. Johnson had not anticipated such support, so many constructive suggestions, and only this one word of criticism:

"I find that you, like so many other good men, cannot believe that other men are not so well-intentioned. This you will learn as you stay on this job."

When Dr. Johnson said that he could not do a good job of reorganization under the constant barrage of criticism which wasted the time and energy of his staff, McCarthy answered:

"You inherited a mess. You need all the help you can get to clean it up, so that you can do a fine job. Men like you are needed in our government. Don't talk about resigning no matter how tough the going is. Once the mess of Achesonism is cleaned up, the Eisenhower Administration will prove itself."

This is no second-hand report of a conversation; it is a condensation of several hours of discussion. I think that it gives another view of McCarthy. Knowing the activities of Senator McCarthy, I am sure that my thesis that there is no greater conflict between McCarthy and Eisenhower than is normal in a country where there is a separation of powers between the Executive and the Legislative is correct. If anything, the record will show that the Wisconsin Senator supports his party with regularity.

And this must be said for President Eisenhower: He is a stickler for constitutional government, and those who have tried to push him into a fight with Congress, have thus far failed. It is refreshing to have a President who respects the Constitution and the rights and functions of Congress.

ANTIBIOTICS

When a physician begins the treatment of a certain diseased condition and knows that in the great majority of cases he will bring the patient safely through his illness because of a recently discovered method of treatment, we know that he will be grateful in spirit to the discoverer or discoverers of this new method of treatment.

Similarly with the surgeon as he treats a diseased condition surgically, knowing that he has a great helper in a recently discovered method of treatment.

In one case an electric glue drier used by a furniture factory in Pennsylvania was found to be interfering with aircraft radio on the west coast, 2000 miles away. In another case a small homemade record player disrupted broadcast reception within 15 miles and annoyed many listeners in a 500-mile radius. Blotting out an aviation channel was traced to a heating pad.

Navy Economies

Navy Department has had inspection teams in its two largest Naval districts, at New York and San Diego, trying to find where money was being spent that didn't contribute to combat effectiveness. One of the first discoveries was that nearly 30 per cent of all storage space was taken up with surplus materials for which there is no longer any use.

The old Navy rule of thumb is that there must be nine months' reserve supply of everything on hand. This went for even such things as hammers. An order has gone out now to cut down on stores wherever money can be saved without impairing striking power.

Of the $1.65 billion cut in the Navy budget for next year—from $11.3 billion to $9.65 billion—it is estimated that about half came from economies. The other half was an arbitrary cutback.

Reduce Navy Air Arm

Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson revealed to the Senate Military Affairs Committee that Naval aviation was woefully weak on jet aircraft. Out of the nearly 10,000 operational Navy planes, only 1600 are modern jet aircraft. This ratio will be more than doubled in the next year and a half.

While this modernization is going on, Navy and Marine operational aircraft will be cut back 200 planes this year and 500 the year after. Navy aircraft procurement has been cut back from an estimated $3.2 billion for the year ending June 30, to $1.9 billion for the 12 months following. This will let the Navy order only about 500 new planes.

The explanation given is that the Navy couldn't fly more planes, even if it had them. It lacks money, gas and personnel. While there has been a great to-do over Air Force cutbacks, nobody seems to be in there fighting for a stronger Naval air arm.

Truce Will Be Bad for Eisenhower, Is Opinion, When Facts Are Understood

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 10—Politically a truce in Korea may help the Eisenhower administration—but only temporarily. Already the subject of how long it will be before the Korean truce as an issue will boomerang against the administration is being discussed here, and some political analysts think the criticism will be overwhelming in six months. Others think nine months.

Judgment is being predicated on the belief that the American people do not at the moment realize what has happened. They have not yet been able to come to a decision because the discussion has just begun. Likewise, in the next few months every act of faithlessness by the Communists in the Far East or in southeast Asia will be pointed to as confirmation of the unwisdom of the Korean agreement.

Questions that will be asked in the debate that will go on inside both the Democratic and Republican parties are these:

1. Why did President Eisenhower accept the provisions laid down by the Truman-Acheson administration when a new negotiation could have been begun with new terms when the talks were resumed in April after having been broken off last autumn?

2. Why do spokesmen for the United Nations and for the administration insist that aggression has been "repelled" in Korea, when the aggressor as formally named by the UN—Red China—still has 700,000 troops stationed in the middle of Korea, having come all the way from the Yalu river to the present battle line?

3. Why, after the aggression of the North Korean armies was halted in October 1950, did the UN armies receive permission from the UN allies to cross the 38th Parallel and drive toward the Yalu river?

4. Why were casualties incurred if victory and the unification of Korea had been abandoned as military objectives and the sole purpose was to "repel aggression" at the middle of Korea?

5. Why did President Eisenhower offer the Republic of Korea a mutual-defense pact with the United States alone when it is the UN which has presumably assumed the responsibility for repelling aggression in Korea?

6. Does this mean—as Senator Taft recommended—an abandonment of the UN as a primary means of defending Korea?

7. Why did President Eisenhower in his letter to President Rhee ignore the request of the Republic of Korea that its country be rid of the Communist Chinese troops which invaded Korea and committed acts of aggression formally denounced by the UN?

8. Why were American troops—which, together with the South Koreans, have done almost 90 per cent of the fighting—prevented from using maximum force to win, and why was the plan of General MacArthur submitted last December to President-elect Eisenhower for the winning of the Korean war disregarded?

9. What explanation will be made to the American military forces of the future concerning victory as an objective when the United States concedes it must carry on only such military operations as other governments may dictate to it, even though the enemy is not restricted by an international body or alliance?

10. What explanation will the Truman and Eisenhower administrations give for failure to insist that all trade with Red China and Soviet Russia in strategic materials be cut off during the last three years by all members of the UN.

11. How can the United States remain a member of an international body known as "The United Nations" when, in fact, one set of members has been supplying arms and munitions to help kill the troops of other members. Mostly those of the United States and the Republic of Korea?

12. If there's peace in Korea, why aren't taxes reduced, and why are American boys going to keep on being drafted?

Lots of explanations will be made to gloss over the military defeat which the UN has suffered, and it is tragic that President Eisenhower in his letter forgot about the spirit of the American soldier when he conceded defeat and a weariness of fighting. The plain truth might well have been included—that the troops of the United States and South Korea were not defeated but were prevented from using maximum military power to obtain victory and that the responsibility for the defeat must rest squarely on the British government, which feared that not enough money and troops would be available for Europe if America became engaged in a war to obtain victory in Asia.

This is the first time that a military effort of the United States, in conjunction with allies, has been defeated. The enemy has dictated the terms of the armistice and will dictate the terms of peace. A divided Korea is being rationalized already by administration supporters as an academic objective. Also, the admission of Red China to the UN has been announced as a definite objective of Great Britain, despite protests from this country that this would be a reward for the aggressor. The UN has lost a war it could have won.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

George Sokolsky put his finger on Dave Dubinsky and the whole rotten Communist conspiracy against the capitalist west when he wrote a few days ago that "the followers of David Dubinsky" fought the Communist movement "from a strictly doctrinate position."

"While they often provided an intellectual argument against the Communists," he said, "their strictly doctrinate attitude kept them from really aiding vital anti-Communist movements. As in Europe, so in the United States, most of the social Democrats, while they despised Stalin, adored Karl Marx. Thus, many of them found themselves, at various times, in and out of front groups."

This is the truth of Dubinsky's political operations in Europe through the agency of two of the most notorious and, in the forensic sense only, bloodthirsty barricade fighters in our domestic political history, Jay Lovestone and Irving Brown.

Lovestone is a dark, mysterious figure and I am not sure that this is his real name. Although he is acclaimed in more or less orthodox American papers and magazines by a claque of publicists who might well be called press-agents for the world-socialist movement, Lovestone was an absolute stranger, even by name, to all Americans except a handful of professional Red-baiters and left-wing political conspirators until I began to work him over about 18 months ago.

Dubinsky had the gall to set up his own, as it were, state department to carry out the undeclared but easily verified "foreign policy" which is to create in the countries on our side of the Iron Curtain a "labor" movement strong enough to stand off the Muscovite Communist movement pushing in from Russia.

No sensible man will try to defend a false position and I never have said that Lovestone and Brown were, as of this recent phase, Kremlin Communists. I have said repeatedly, however, that they were just as Red as Stalin ever was and have proved it in their own words from their own publications and from writings and testimony by Lovestone. They both broke with Stalin and the Kremlin, yes, but they have continued to plug for world communism and Lovestone even wrote a demand for a unified world Communist movement long after the break.

The Reader's Digest fell for one article by a fellow who now, in one of those Marshall Field paperback news-stand books, tells us that Brown is one of the 100 most important men in the world. It took me to show up not only Lovestone and Brown but the Reader's Digest which first tried to fight back but tin-canned it when I challenged all of them to cite for me a single line of record showing that Lovestone and/or Brown ever renounced communism and Marx per se.

And I interviewed one of the really great anti-Communists of this grand battle, Ben Gitlow, formerly the head of the party in the United States, to the effect that, after all he had sacrificed to atone for his earlier wrongs, Dubinsky turned his back on him.

Ben was broke and, I understand, still is just shuffling along from day to day when you would expect the leader and financial backer of a real world-anti-Communist program to give him at least an eating job out of his treasury of $166,100,000. But Ben said when he put it to Dave whether a man in his position had no other course open but to jump off Brooklyn bridge, Dave

THIS THING CALLED SPECULATION

A waiter in a New York city hotel has just brought 2,000 shares of an oil-promotion stock, for $300. The certificates look impressive. And the name of the outfit is attractive.

Yet the purchaser of the shares really doesn't know if the property in question is cattle-grazing land or desert sand where only snakes and lizards can live. It takes quite a stretch of imagination to conjure up a belief that there is oil under this ground.

But belief in the unbelievable is one of the chief characteristics of thousands of American speculators. This waiter does not go to the Belmont race track to bet on the horses. Too risky. But buying a sheaf of oil shares at 15 cents a share sounds like a reasonable proposition to him. After all, $100 sunk in the Ford Motor Company at its beginning brought $250,000!

And oil does come in at the strangest places, he reasons. After all, suppose he does lose $300. He picks up $25 a day on the average at the hotel where he works. The chance of gaining a fortune at the risk of losing 12 days' tips is a risk worth taking.

This speculator, like thousands similarly situated, has no well-ordered economic life. He has $200 in a saving bank; his life insurance policy is for $1,000. The hardcore of his thrift and savings program is a joke.

* * *

Far too often, the wrong people speculate. The Canadian and American Securities Commissioners have recently moved in on unscrupulous penny stock dealers plying their wares among the credulous believers in economic miracles. But laws are not enough. Buyers still must beware.

If $200,000 is needed to launch a new enterprise, or to drill for oil at a promising location, or to exploit a clever idea of a bonafide inventor, the risk capital should be collected from 40 speculators who put up $5,000 each, or from 20 with $10,000 each, and so on in larger proportions. All these people should be substantial taxpayers so that if the enterprise fails (90 per cent of them do), the losses can be harmlessly charged off.

America and Canada are now centers of penny and dollar stock promotion. Most of the shares are bought by persons economically unable to take such risks. This waiter of whom I have spoken should have been marched military fashion to a savings bank to deposit $150. With the other $150 he should have bought another life insurance policy.

Not all speculation is bad. Risk-taking made America the strongest nation in the world. United States Steel, General Motors, du-Pont, General Electric—to mention only four giants—were once young enterprises needing risk capital. For the most part, the money was furnished by speculators who could afford it.

It is my judgment that investors with $5,000, $10,000, $15,000 have no business whatever in contributing a dollar of risk capital to companies launching out in an economic sea of uncertainty.

If an investor pays a federal income tax of $5,000 or $10,000 annually, he can be a risk-capital candidate. A capable certified public accountant specializing in tax matters is the best person for prospective risk-takers to consult. The CPA will know what losses can be taken against other income and capital gains.

The pathetic thing about so much penny and dollar speculation is that it is indulged in by those who can least afford it. Like the waiter, the small speculator throws away precious savings hoping to make a killing sometime. Ninety per cent of the time those savings are gone forever.

(Q) "Would you buy government bonds at the present time?"

(A) Well, the government 2½s of 1964-69 are selling at about 92 and the 2½s of 1967-72 at 91 as I write this. Investors with money out at 1 per cent and 2 per cent and those who bought these obligations at 100 should find present discount prices attractive. These bonds due, at first maturity, in 11 and 14 years, will be paid at 100 when due. Thus, a fair yield can be had and good appreciation over a period of time.

Yes, your chances of finding a mistake in any of the telephone directories we publish are only one in four thousand. To put it another way, telephone books are 99.975% accurate!

It isn't easy to keep a directory this free of errors. People are constantly moving, getting new phones, making other changes that affect their listings. And every change is a potential mistake.

But our directory team's slogan is "Treat every listing as though it were your own." So every listing is proof-read at least 3 times—even if only a middle initial has been added. Then the listing is checked with the telephone subscriber. An error has to be pretty slick to get through.

Even so, the four hundred people who work full time on the directories never let up in their effort to weed out every error. They know that providing you with directories that are accurate is essential to good telephone service. For accuracy is as much a telephone tradition as speed, clarity and dependability. Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers when Mr. Block of Block's Bazaar moved from the Strand to 36 Broadway in the then Kennedy building, after spending some 40 years on the corner of Strand and Hasbrouck avenue. That was back in January of 1915 when The Strand was a busy thoroughfare with the two ferries running full blast. The Skillyput was making its trips back and forth to Sleightsburgh bringing folks across the creek with plenty of money to spend in Rondout. It was a convenient setup for they could take the trolley right from the Strand and go uptown shopping too. In those days all the theatres were running full schedule uptown and downtown wth vaudeville changes twice a week. I think the old Opera House had its live drama too. Restaurants all over town were serving full course hot meals for 25 cents complete. I remember during Memorial Day and other holiday weekends the cars waiting for the two ferries would line up to Abeel street and others all the way up Hasbrouck avenue. With hours of waiting the passengers walked around downtown and left money in various stores. Those were good times for the merchants of Rondout.

I often wonder what happens when someone receives two turkeys one way or another on one of the big holidays like Christmas or Thanksgiving. It does happen. Back in 1915 it seems that John D. Pfrommer of the L. B. Van Wagenen Co. somehow found himself with two large turkeys for Christmas which was much too much for his immediate family and friends. In telling his co-workers at Van Wagenen, one of the men suggested, "Well, Pfrommer, you provide the bird and we'll provide the fixings," the outcome was a delicious banquet which was served to the employes in the tea room of the store. "The banquet was faultlessly prepared and served by Mrs. Carrie Carnell, the caterer of the tea room. To prove that the turkey was well surrounded with companionable food the following was served at that surprise banquet. Cocktails, celery, olives, roast turkey, oyster dressing, mashed potatoes, baked squash en casserole, onion au gratin, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers. Jelly, cranberry punch, fruit salad in grapefruit cases, mince pie, cheese, fruits, nuts, candy, and cafe noir.

It was said that everyone was in a good mood at the "extra turkey banquet" with stories about the dry goods business local and national at the beginning of the meal, winding up with toasts and numerous funny stories making it a grand evening. Those attending were: E. F. MacFadden, W. N. Martin, J. D. Pfrommer, J. L. Heiser, W. Ford, J. A. Purcell, T. H. Richards, W. P. Crispell, F. M. Snyder, George C. Kent and S. Schoenfeld. Perhaps some of the above still remember it.

Old timers no doubt remember when the Weiner Hotel and Grill Room was where the Kingston Trust Co. building is today. The Weiner family came to Rondout in 1858 and established one of the largest wine and liquor wholesale establishments in the state. Jan. 1, 1915 the family history is written up in The Freeman in connection with the death of Isaac N. Weiner who through his lifetime had been offered nominations for assemblyman, senator and mayor but declined although took active part in civic and charity work.

All these people should be substantial taxpayers so that if the enterprise fails (90 per cent of them do), the losses can be harmlessly charged off.

America and Canada are now centers of penny and dollar stock promotion. Most of the shares are bought by persons economically unable to take such risks. This waiter of whom I have spoken should have been marched military fashion to a savings bank to deposit $150. With the other $150 he should have bought another life insurance policy.

Not all speculation is bad. Risk-taking made America the strongest nation in the world. United States Steel, General Motors, du-Pont, General Electric—to mention only four giants—were once young enterprises needing risk capital. For the most part, the money was furnished by speculators who could afford it.

It is my judgment that investors with $5,000, $10,000, $15,000 have no business whatever in contributing a dollar of risk capital to companies launching out in an economic sea of uncertainty.

If an investor pays a federal income tax of $5,000 or $10,000 annually, he can be a risk-capital candidate. A capable certified public accountant specializing in tax matters is the best person for prospective risk-takers to consult. The CPA will know what losses can be taken against other income and capital gains.

The pathetic thing about so much penny and dollar speculation is that it is indulged in by those who can least afford it. Like the waiter, the small speculator throws away precious savings hoping to make a killing sometime. Ninety per cent of the time those savings are gone forever.

(Q) "Would you buy government bonds at the present time?"

(A) Well, the government 2½s of 1964-69 are selling at about 92 and the 2½s of 1967-72 at 91 as I write this. Investors with money out at 1 per cent and 2 per cent and those who bought these obligations at 100 should find present discount prices attractive. These bonds due, at first maturity, in 11 and 14 years, will be paid at 100 when due. Thus, a fair yield can be had and good appreciation over a period of time.

Money Goes to Charity

Knoxville, Tenn., June 10 (AP)—Chancellor Charles E. Dawson ruled yesterday that the $60,000 estate of a veteran Tennessee Valley Authority engineer go to charitable organizations—not to five brothers and sisters "somewhere behind the Iron curtain." The Hamilton National Bank, executor of the estate said the State Department declined to try to find Tour's brothers and sisters in Russia on grounds that such a search might endanger their lives.

Yes, your chances of finding a mistake in any of the telephone directories we publish are only one in four thousand. To put it another way, telephone books are 99.975% accurate!

It isn't easy to keep a directory this free of errors. People are constantly moving, getting new phones, making other changes that affect their listings. And every change is a potential mistake.

But our directory team's slogan is "Treat every listing as though it were your own." So every listing is proof-read at least 3 times—even if only a middle initial has been added. Then the listing is checked with the telephone subscriber. An error has to be pretty slick to get through.

Even so, the four hundred people who work full time on the directories never let up in their effort to weed out every error. They know that providing you with directories that are accurate is essential to good telephone service. For accuracy is as much a telephone tradition as speed, clarity and dependability. New York Telephone Company.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers when Mr. Block of Block's Bazaar moved from the Strand to 36 Broadway in the then Kennedy building, after spending some 40 years on the corner of Strand and Hasbrouck avenue. That was back in January of 1915 when The Strand was a busy thoroughfare with the two ferries running full blast. The Skillyput was making its trips back and forth to Sleightsburgh bringing folks across the creek with plenty of money to spend in Rondout. It was a convenient setup for they could take the trolley right from the Strand and go uptown shopping too. In those days all the theatres were running full schedule uptown and downtown wth vaudeville changes twice a week. I think the old Opera House had its live drama too. Restaurants all over town were serving full course hot meals for 25 cents complete. I remember during Memorial Day and other holiday weekends the cars waiting for the two ferries would line up to Abeel street and others all the way up Hasbrouck avenue. With hours of waiting the passengers walked around downtown and left money in various stores. Those were good times for the merchants of Rondout.

I often wonder what happens when someone receives two turkeys one way or another on one of the big holidays like Christmas or Thanksgiving. It does happen. Back in 1915 it seems that John D. Pfrommer of the L. B. Van Wagenen Co. somehow found himself with two large turkeys for Christmas which was much too much for his immediate family and friends. In telling his coworkers at Van Wagenen, one of the men suggested, "Well, Pfrommer, you provide the bird and we'll provide the fixings," the outcome was a delicious banquet which was served to the employes in the tea room of the store. "The banquet was faultlessly prepared and served by Mrs. Carrie Carnell, the caterer of the tea room. To prove that the turkey was well surrounded with companionable food the following was served at that surprise banquet. Cocktails, celery, olives, roast turkey, oyster dressing, mashed potatoes, baked squash en casserole, onion au gratin, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers. Jelly, cranberry punch, fruit salad in grapefruit cases, mince pie, cheese, fruits, nuts, candy, and cafe noir.

It was said that everyone was in a good mood at the "extra turkey banquet" with stories about the dry goods business local and national at the beginning of the meal, winding up with toasts and numerous funny stories making it a grand evening. Those attending were: E. F. MacFadden, W. N. Martin, J. D. Pfrommer, J. L. Heiser, W. Ford, J. A. Purcell, T. H. Richards, W. P. Crispell, F. M. Snyder, George C. Kent and S. Schoenfeld. Perhaps some of the above still remember it.

Old timers no doubt remember when the Weiner Hotel and Grill Room was where the Kingston Trust Co. building is today. The Weiner family came to Rondout in 1858 and established one of the largest wine and liquor wholesale establishments in the state. Jan. 1, 1915 the family history is written up in The Freeman in connection with the death of Isaac N. Weiner who through his lifetime had been offered nominations for assemblyman, senator and mayor but declined although took active part in civic and charity work.

Peter Wojcio

The funeral of Peter Wojcio was held Tuesday at 9 a. m. and at the Church of the Immaculate Conception 9:30 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek. The responses to the Mass were by the children's choir, under the direction of Theresa J. Gehringer, organist. The requiem was attended by many friends, who came to pay their last religious tribute by assisting at the Mass. While the remains reposed in the funeral home, scores of family acquaintances visited at the funeral home to offer their condolence to the bereaved. The Right Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury PR VF, and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly called and offered prayers for the dead. Sunday evening Father Sieczek came and assisted by those present recited the Rosary. There was a profusion of flowers, and spiritual bouquets, tokens of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The bearers were John Burns, 3rd, Stanley Wojcio, Ronald Burns, Aloysius Gafney, Robert Burns, and John Wojcio, grandsons of the deceased. Burial was in Mount Calvary Cemetery, where the blessing was given by Father Sieczek.

New York City Produce Market

New York, June 10 (AP)—Eggs 19,599, irregular. Nearby: Spot quotations, based largely on exchange trading, follow: Whites: Extra fancy heavyweights 60; mediums 55; pullets 45½. Browns: Extra fancy weights 60; mediums 54½-55; pullets 45½.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 10 (AP)—The stock market moved a bit lower today after earlier mild strength in the rail and steel issues failed to spread to the rest of the list.

The market was fairly active. Volume in the first two hours was 760,000 shares. Yesterday, volume reached the highest since April 7, with 2,200,000 shares changing hands in a sharply lower market.

Steels moved to the minus side while rails presented a mixed pattern. Also lower were motors, chemicals, televisions and airlines. Utilities, metals and aircrafts were mixed, but a slight preponderance of plus signs marked the oil group.

Stocks advancing included Amerada Petroleum, up 2¼ at 158¼; Texas Pacific land trust, ahead 2 at 118, Pure Oil, up ¾ at 48¼; American Cyanamid, up ⅞ at 43⅛, and Santa Fe, up ⅝ at 89⅛.

Lower were General Motors, off ¾ at 58½; Douglas Aircraft, off ¾ at 61¼; Philco, down ⅝ at 28⅞; Motorola, down ½ at 31¾; Pacific Gas & Electric, down ⅝ at 35¼; Dow, off ⅝ at 33½, and Standard Oil (New Jersey), down ⅜ at 68⅞.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city; branch office, 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

County Will Bid On All Properties Sold for Taxes

Ulster county will bid in all the properties to be sold for unpaid taxes at the public auction advertised by County Treasurer Horace Boice to be held Tuesday, June 16 at the court house.

This authorization was given last night in a resolution unanimously adopted at a special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Members of the board pointed out, after the meeting, that tax-sale bidders in a legal way, acquire choice properties and hold them for redemption after two years receiving 10 per cent on the investment, and the county has been acquiring only those parcels for which no bids were made.

The resolution authorizing the purchase of all properties in the tax sale met with no discussion. It stated that section 151 of Article 7 of the Tax Law provides that the Board of Supervisors may, by resolution, authorize the county treasurer to bid in properties advertised in the tax sales for the gross amount of taxes plus interest, penalties and other charges all owed by law.

The properties purchased by the county at the tax sales will be held by it "for and during the period of redemption," the resolution stated.

Cunningham Heads Mid-Hudson Greeters

Edward Cunningham, assistant manager of the Stuyvesant Hotel of this city, is the new president of Mid-Hudson Section, Hotel Greeters of America. He was installed at a meeting at the U. S. Hotel Thayer, West Point, and represented the Mid-Hudson Section at the Northeastern Convention of Hotel Greeters at Rochester.

The Hotel Greeters, which holds monthly meetings from September through May, is open to any executive, front office or auditing office male personnel of any hotel or motel in this section. Inquiries as to membership may be directed to Cunningham.

The Mid-Hudson Section's opening meeting in September will be at the Poughkeepsie Inn.

Notices Are Filed

Trenton, N. J., June 10 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad and 12 other lines operating in New Jersey have filed notices of appeal from new safety regulations ordered by the State Public Utility Commission because of the 1951 Woodbridge train wreck. The notices, filed yesterday, said simply that the railroads intend to appeal to State Superior Court's Appellate Division from "all of the provisions" of orders entered by the PUC April 28.

Girl Reported Missing

The police department was notified Tuesday at 8 p. m. that Miss Martha Patmore, 19, of 50 Downs street, said to be the daughter of Mrs. Salvatore Riccobene, 93 Prospect street, has been missing from her home since early Monday night. The missing girl was described as weighing 110 pounds, five feet seven inches tall, with blonde hair. At the time of her disappearance she was reported to be wearing a white blouse, with blue stripes, a three-tone green skirt and red shoes.

Held Without Bail

New York, June 10 (AP)—Felony Court Magistrate Eugene R. Canudo today held without bail for hearing on June 19 George V. Calderon, 27, of 84 East 108th street, on a charge of having stabbed a schoolgirl yesterday as she stood on a subway station platform. The victim, Angela Vega, 16, of 32 West 112th street, is in fair condition at Metropolitan Hospital following surgery in which several stitches were taken in her heart.

It would be difficult to operate today's automobile on the type of gasoline which was produced 25 years ago.

Road-eo Winners Receive Awards

Ten students from Kingston High School and one post-graduate were winners in the second annual Road-eo sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce on Saturday at the municipal stadium.

Three trophies, top awards in the contest, were won by Albert Schmidt, first; Frederick Christiana, second and Peter Zegel, third.

Four tires which graced the high school lobby last week were won by Charles Koemm, Robert Whispell, Bruce Munson and Charles Coutant. Three boys also won grease jobs from various service stations. Winners in this category included George Telepas, Frank Wiesler and Gerald Styles.

Shirley Van Kleek won a special award of $10 offered to girls. Awards were made at the special high school assembly on Tuesday.

Bloodhounds Used To Trace Fugitives

Hopewell Junction, June 10 (AP)—A grim posse of about 150 men beat warily through a densely wooded swamp today in search of three dangerous fugitives believed sighted in the area last night.

The morning produced no trace of the trio that escaped from a criminal insane hospital, but the drive was renewed in the afternoon.

Bloodhounds and walkie talkies were called into play in the effort to trap the men.

A number of skilled woodsmen were deputized to aid in the manhunt. Spearheading the effort were state troopers, guards from the Matteawan State Hospital and guards from Green Haven prison.

The search began after three men were reported spotted running into the mile-long swampy area last night.

County Will Bid On All Properties Sold for Taxes

Ulster county will bid in all the properties to be sold for unpaid taxes at the public auction advertised by County Treasurer Horace Boice to be held Tuesday, June 16 at the court house.

This authorization was given last night in a resolution unanimously adopted at a special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Members of the board pointed out, after the meeting, that tax-sale bidders in a legal way, acquire choice properties and hold them for redemption after two years receiving 10 per cent on the investment, and the county has been acquiring only those parcels for which no bids were made.

The resolution authorizing the purchase of all properties in the tax sale met with no discussion. It stated that section 151 of Article 7 of the Tax Law provides that the Board of Supervisors may, by resolution, authorize the county treasurer to bid in properties advertised in the tax sales for the gross amount of taxes plus interest, penalties and other charges all owed by law.

The properties purchased by the county at the tax sales will be held by it "for and during the period of redemption," the resolution stated.

Cunningham Heads Mid-Hudson Greeters

Edward Cunningham, assistant manager of the Stuyvesant Hotel of this city, is the new president of Mid-Hudson Section, Hotel Greeters of America. He was installed at a meeting at the U. S. Hotel Thayer, West Point, and represented the Mid-Hudson Section at the Northeastern Convention of Hotel Greeters at Rochester.

The Hotel Greeters, which holds monthly meetings from September through May, is open to any executive, front office or auditing office male personnel of any hotel or motel in this section. Inquiries as to membership may be directed to Cunningham.

The Mid-Hudson Section's opening meeting in September will be at the Poughkeepsie Inn.

Notices Are Filed

Trenton, N. J., June 10 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad and 12 other lines operating in New Jersey have filed notices of appeal from new safety regulations ordered by the State Public Utility Commission because of the 1951 Woodbridge train wreck. The notices, filed yesterday, said simply that the railroads intend to appeal to State Superior Court's Appellate Division from "all of the provisions" of orders entered by the PUC April 28.

Girl Reported Missing

The police department was notified Tuesday at 8 p. m. that Miss Martha Patmore, 19, of 50 Downs street, said to be the daughter of Mrs. Salvatore Riccobene, 93 Prospect street, has been missing from her home since early Monday night. The missing girl was described as weighing 110 pounds, five feet seven inches tall, with blonde hair. At the time of her disappearance she was reported to be wearing a white blouse, with blue stripes, a three-tone green skirt and red shoes.

Held Without Bail

New York, June 10 (AP)—Felony Court Magistrate Eugene R. Canudo today held without bail for hearing on June 19 George V. Calderon, 27, of 84 East 108th street, on a charge of having stabbed a schoolgirl yesterday as she stood on a subway station platform. The victim, Angela Vega, 16, of 32 West 112th street, is in fair condition at Metropolitan Hospital following surgery in which several stitches were taken in her heart.

It would be difficult to operate today's automobile on the type of gasoline which was produced 25 years ago.

Bloodhounds Used To Trace Fugitives

Hopewell Junction, June 10 (AP)—A grim posse of about 150 men beat warily through a densely wooded swamp today in search of three dangerous fugitives believed sighted in the area last night.

The morning produced no trace of the trio that escaped from a criminal insane hospital, but the drive was renewed in the afternoon.

Bloodhounds and walkie talkies were called into play in the effort to trap the men.

A number of skilled woodsmen were deputized to aid in the manhunt. Spearheading the effort were state troopers, guards from the Matteawan State Hospital and guards from Green Haven prison.

The search began after three men were reported spotted running into the mile-long swampy area last night.

Lent; delegates to the state convention in Elmira in September, Mrs. Minnie Pape, Mrs. Grace Relyea, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Mackey, Mrs. Hazel Pape and Mrs. Florence E. Cotant; councilor doctor, Dr. J. W. Blakely. Mrs. Lottie Mackey was clerk; Mrs. Relyea and George Gunsalus, tellers and Mrs. Cotant, Sr., judge. It was announced the council was awarded third prize for a float in the Memorial Day parade which featured Mrs. Williams as Uncle Sam; Mrs. Temm, Liberty; schoolhouse with Donna Temm; Mrs. Thorne, and decorations of flowers and red, white and blue crepe paper. Mrs. Osterhoudt and Mrs. H. Pape, sunshine chairmen reported calls on many shut-in members. Mrs. Thorne and Mrs. Hoberg are chairmen for the next meeting. Appreciation extended to those who took part in decorating the float and tableau, also Mrs. Sarah Wildrick for placing flags on the graves of former members. Mrs. Anna Maynard who is observing her birthday and Mrs. Mrs. Louise Sheeley who celebrates June 7 will be remembered with cards. The red side in the contest with Mrs. Grace Relyea, leader, will conduct an attic treasure sale at the meeting June 17. All members of the side are requested to donate articles. An application for membership was received. A buffet supper was served by Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Wildrick, Mrs. Grace Simmons, Mrs. Temm, Mrs. Jessie Van Nostrand, Mrs. Maude Woolsey.

A tentative date of August 29 was decided upon for the Presbyterian Church Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Champlin who was assisted by Mrs. Alfred Lane. The treasure chest, one of the features is in charge of Mrs. Thomas Sears and Mrs. Franklin Welker. Mrs. Edward Krom reported $100.60 received from the recent supper. The 19 ladies present were reminded of the rummage sale in October and June 17 sewing day in the church hall with a need of sheets and blankets which are worn but may be made smaller for crib use. Mrs. Harry Needham presided with devotions led by Mrs. M. P. Busch. The July meeting will be in the church hall with Mrs. Harriet Upright as chairman. Mrs. John C. Morgan was a guest and Mrs. W. Stewart MacCaoll a member. Mr. MacColl joined the meeting during the afternoon.

Miss Frances Swift has taken a position in the First National Bank during the summer.

All students taking the Vocational Agriculture course in the Central School are required to do agricultural work as part of their regular academic work thereby meeting the requirements of the New York State Education Department. This work may be in the form of supervised farming practices on a suitable farm or in the form of an agricultural project owned and managed by the student himself. The project plans as formulated by the students themselves are from July 1, 1953 to June 1, 1954: Roger H. Erichsen, 130 bearing McIntosh and Delicious apple trees; practice, working on Louis LaFalce horse farm, Robert L. Churchwell, one 60-60 family vegetable garden, practice, working on Michael Nardone farm. Albert J. Hoffman, 30-50 vegetable garden for family, practice, working on Bryant dairy farm, Modena. James L. Relyea, 25x20 vegetable garden, paint buildings for father, landscape home grounds. Frederick J. Riley, 1 acre partnership vegetable and raspberry garden with brother, practice, work on Nicholas Apuzzo fruit farm, Ardonia. Robert D. Riley, 1 acre partnership vegetable and raspberry garden with brother, practice, work on Nicholas Apuzzo fruit farm, Ardonia. George Pafumi, work on 55 acre fruit farm as partner with father. Salvatore J. Scimeca, working 75 acre fruit farm with father and brother. Vincent A. Vitale, 1 pig, 30-30 vegetable garden, landscaping home grounds. Robert Wilklow, one grade Guernsey, one purebred Holstein calf, practice, work on family fruit farm and on brother's poultry farm.

In a memorial arranged by the lecturer Mrs. Charles Bell the memories of Benjamin Hewett and John F. Wadlin, two members of Highland Grange, were honored at the meeting Tuesday night. The hymn Abide With Me, was sung and a candle and flowers placed on the altar. Howard Mackey read the 23rd Psalm followed by Mrs. Bell reading a tribute to the memories of both men. Mrs. Mackey repeated the Lord's prayer and the hymn, Lead Kindly Light was sung. Safety was featured in a short program that opened with the Song of Peace and a roll call on Safety in the Home and comments by Mrs. Albert Schreiber, Mrs. Jack Nace and Mrs. Frank Knivel. The closing song with words to the tune of School Days closed the meeting. There were 37 present and refreshments served.

Mrs. Albert Thompson and Mrs. Valmore LeBel drove to New Haven, Conn., Tuesday and brought Miss Sally Thompson with them on their return. Miss Thompson has completed her junior year at Connecticut College.

Mrs. Stella Burhop, Freemont, Neb., is spending a few days with Mrs. Charles Bell. Mrs. Burhop's grandfather Mr. Martey went from the Plattekill neighborhood to Nebraska many years ago.

Mrs. Edgar Boyce was a recent weekend guest of her daughter Miss Ruth Boyce at Schenectady and they made calls on relatives in Shenevus and were guests of Mrs. Boyce's brother in his camp on the Susquehanna and a niece from Oneonta accompanied them on their return Sunday.

Mrs. Jack Friedman and daughter Ann visited the former's son Jules Friedman at Yale University, New Haven, Conn., for the weekend.

The Friday Bridge Club meets this week with Mrs. Thomas Sears.

The Alice M. Scardifield Constellation of Junior Stars met Monday night in Masonic Temple with Ronda Upton, exalted star, presiding. The Misses Carol and Sandra Roan were initiated into membership. Mrs. Olympia D. Cottine and Miss Scardefield, sponsors, were seated on the platform. Election of officers took place with Mrs. Cottine and Miss Upton, judges, and Mrs. Holze, Lorraine Needham and Mrs. Florence E. Cotant, tellers. Miss Joan Needham was elected exalted star of light and love; Carol Boyce, star of happiness; Carol Ferguson, star of mercy; Mary Lou Holze, star of kindness; Jane Taber, star of records; Carol Challands, star of treasuries; Miss Upton, star of guidance; Carol Wolpe, star of music; Carol Roan, star of nations; Sandra Roan, star of protection; Roberta Glick, star of devotion; Beverly Lyons, star of truth; Mary Mason, star of friendship; Marcella Raycraft, star of faith; Theresa Needham, star of sincerity and Jane Wright, star of service. Mrs. Clara Blakely, sponsor, assisted in the meeting. It was voted to hold a picnic Wednesday, July 15. The next meeting after the summer recess will be a public installation, Wednesday, Sept. 9, in Masonic Temple. Among the guests were Mrs. May Smith, Arthur Keator, matron and patron of Kingston Chapter; Mrs. Keator, Mrs. Frank Strobel, Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Minnie Neebe, Mrs. Ethel Jones, Miss Scardefield, grand treasurer of the Eastern Star, all of Kingston; Mrs. Boyce, Walden; Mrs. Holze, Marlborough; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Blakely, Poughkeepsie; Mrs. Meredith Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Roan, Mrs. Cottine, Mrs. Cotant, grand warder, Highland. Miss Scardefield and Mrs. Cotant gave short addresses. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Word was received this week of the death of Cora Freer, wife of Willard Carpenter of Watervliet. Funeral services were held at her late home Friday evening, May 29, and burial took place the following Sunday in Kennet Square, Pa. Mrs. Carpenter was the daughter of the late DuBois and Almina Cookingham Freer. Mr. Freer conducted the local bakery and owned the building on Main street that now houses Franks market and Bob's market. Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, two grandchildren, four brothers, George and Arthur, New York, Ernest of Hudson and Russell of Middletown, and a sister, Miss Josephine Freer, New York.

Mrs. Rose Seaman returned Thursday from a visit with her daughter Mrs. Foster A. Root in Middletown. Mr. and Mrs. Root are moving to Schenectady as Mr. Root has been transferred to the Albany district.

The rain of Saturday brought the parade to a sudden end as on the return from the cemetery the march went directly to the village where it was disbanded. Included in the march were floats of Lloyd Post American Legion, Auxiliary, Highland Grange, Lloyd Rod and Gun Club, Ida McKinley Council D of A, Sunshine Lodge IOOF and Vineyard Rebekah lodges, Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, decorated car of PEO Sisterhood. Marchers included Hose Company, Little Leaguers, Boy, Girl and Cub Scouts, 156th National Guard, Clintondale Fire Company, high school band, Chandler Fife and Drum Corp of Beacon, Polish Fife and Drum Corps of Poughkeepsie, Lloyd Post American Legion, Auxiliary members, Highland Hose Company, many horseback riders from the Jack LaFalce ranch. Harvey Slater was marshal. Father George McKinney, chaplain at Wallkill prison spoke from the porch at the cemetery and later at the dedication of the town honor roll in town hall. The Rev. Stanley Jones gave the invocation and the Rev. Stewart MacColl the benediction. Judges of the floats were Mrs. Arthur Clarke, Mrs. Robert H. Cummings, Mrs. Edward McCarthy who selected the Lions Club as first, Chamber of Commerce, second and Daughters of America, third.

Dies at Hospital

New York, June 10 (AP)—Gloria Balaban, 26-year-old niece of the president of Paramount Pictures Inc., died last night at a hospital where, police said, she was undergoing treatment for an overdose of barbiturates. The girl, whose uncle is Barney Balaban, had been in Lenox Till Hospital since Sunday. Police said they had been told that Miss Balaban had argued with a male friend before taking the barbiturate. Miss Balaban's parents are dead.

Vitale, 1 pig, 30-30 vegetable garden, landscaping home grounds. Robert Wilklow, one grade Guernsey, one purebred Holstein calf, practice, work on family fruit farm and on brother's poultry farm.

In a memorial arranged by the lecturer Mrs. Charles Bell the memories of Benjamin Hewett and John F. Wadlin, two members of Highland Grange, were honored at the meeting Tuesday night. The hymn Abide With Me, was sung and a candle and flowers placed on the altar. Howard Mackey read the 23rd Psalm followed by Mrs. Bell reading a tribute to the memories of both men. Mrs. Mackey repeated the Lord's prayer and the hymn, Lead Kindly Light was sung. Safety was featured in a short program that opened with the Song of Peace and a roll call on Safety in the Home and comments by Mrs. Albert Schreiber, Mrs. Jack Nace and Mrs. Frank Knivel. The closing song with words to the tune of School Days closed the meeting. There were 37 present and refreshments served.

Mrs. Albert Thompson and Mrs. Valmore LeBel drove to New Haven, Conn., Tuesday and brought Miss Sally Thompson with them on their return. Miss Thompson has completed her junior year at Connecticut College.

Mrs. Stella Burhop, Freemont, Neb., is spending a few days with Mrs. Charles Bell. Mrs. Burhop's grandfather Mr. Martey went from the Plattekill neighborhood to Nebraska many years ago.

Mrs. Edgar Boyce was a recent weekend guest of her daughter Miss Ruth Boyce at Schenectady and they made calls on relatives in Shenevus and were guests of Mrs. Boyce's brother in his camp on the Susquehanna and a niece from Oneonta accompanied them on their return Sunday.

Mrs. Jack Friedman and daughter Ann visited the former's son Jules Friedman at Yale University, New Haven, Conn., for the weekend.

The Friday Bridge Club meets this week with Mrs. Thomas Sears.

The Alice M. Scardifield Constellation of Junior Stars met Monday night in Masonic Temple with Ronda Upton, exalted star, presiding. The Misses Carol and Sandra Roan were initiated into membership. Mrs. Olympia D. Cottine and Miss Scardefield, sponsors, were seated on the platform. Stanley Jones gave the invocation and the Rev. Stewart MacColl the benediction. Judges of the floats were Mrs. Arthur Clarke, Mrs. Robert H. Cummings, Mrs. Edward McCarthy who selected the Lions Club as first, Chamber of Commerce, second and Daughters of America, third.

Dies at Hospital

New York, June 10 (AP)—Gloria Balaban, 26-year-old niece of the president of Paramount Pictures Inc., died last night at a hospital where, police said, she was undergoing treatment for an overdose of barbiturates. The girl, whose uncle is Barney Balaban, had been in Lenox Till Hospital since Sunday. Police said they had been told that Miss Balaban had argued with a male friend before taking the barbiturate. Miss Balaban's parents are dead.

Sentenced for Arson

Lyons, June 10 (AP)—A volunteer fireman who once was cited for bravery has been sentenced to prison for setting fires that caused an estimated $25,000 damage. Judge Charles Brasser of Wayne county yeterday sentenced Robert D. Fuller, 32, to serve at least 2½ years in Attica State Prison. Fuller had pleaded guilty to a five-count indictment charging him with third-degree arson. His mother, Mrs. Emily Fuller, said in Syracuse that Fuller had been cited in 1937 on Kate Smith's radio program. Mrs. Fuller said her son had thrown his body into a group of school children and knocked them from the path of an automobile. Fuller suffered a leg injury but the children were unhurt.

It is believed that the horse came comparatively late among domestic animals, the camel and the ass preceding it as transport animals.

Warrants Are Out

New York, June 10 (AP)—Three hundred fifty warrants against chronic traffic violators, the first of 10,000 being prepared, have gone out to police in the five boroughs. Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh, commanding the city's war against those who repeatedly ignore traffic summons, sent the first batch of warrants to police. The 10,000 warrants now in preparation represent nearly 60,000 outstanding summonses, and could bring in a total of nearly three million dollars in fines. Murtagh has been fining offenders $50 a ticket unless they have a good excuse.

Boy Is All Right

Roanoke, Va., June 10 (AP)—Five-year-old Jerry Wayne was hit by a car here yesterday and escaped with cuts and bruises. But C. R. Hurd, who saw the accident, started from his home to help the child, fell off his porch and suffered a broken leg.

George Yerry Wins C-H Lamp Contest Honors

Saugerties, June 9 — George Yerry, Jr., won first award in the lamp contest conducted recently by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company. Other winners from Saugerties High School were Odell Palmer, second and Robert Carpenter, third. These winners were chosen earlier this month by a panel of instructors from Saugerties High School.

George's lamp a beautifully finished driftwood piece, will automatically be entered in the final judging to be held at the Central Hudson's general offices in Poughkeepsie on June 8. The contest got underway last October and more than 2,000 lamps in the area were turned out by woodworking and industrial arts students. There was a wide range of materials employed, including driftwood, wrought iron, leather, copper, glass, pottery, and stone. The outstanding lamps made in the Saugerties High School competition were on display at the local Central Hudson office for a time.

Fire Auxiliary Plans Picnic on June 14th

Saugerties, June 9—Plans for a picnic at Taghkanic State Park were completed at last week's meeting of the Centerville Ladies' Auxiliary at the firehouse. Firemen and their families have been invited to the picnic and each family is asked to take a covered dish plus sandwiches and place settings.

The bus will leave the Centerville Firehouse June 14 at 9:30 a. m.

It was decided that a party will be held in the fire hall August 12.

Twenty-five members were present. After the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. K. Higgins, Mrs. G. Burgemeister, Mrs. M. Shader and Mrs. E. Shader.

Blue Birds Tender Party to Two Leaders

Saugerties, June 9 — The Blue Bird group of the Dutch Guild of the Reformed Church tendered its leaders, Miss Joan Haynes and Miss Patricia Abbott, a farewell party in the church basement Monday afternoon June 1. After the regular meeting, refreshments were served. The table was dcorated in white and rose with large bouquets of flowers.

Miss Lynn Broome, president of the Blue Birds, presented the leaders with farewell gifts and corsages.

Miss Haynes, a fourth grade teacher in the Main Street School, is leaving in June and will take another teaching position in the fall. Miss Abbott, who will graduate from Saugerties High School this year, is planning to enter college this fall.

Those attending the party were Patricia Faerber, Beverly Kellerhouse, Linda Van Tassel, Karen Minkler, Susan Fast, Betty Haines, Carole Finger, Carol Ann Fox, Linda Noble, Judy Peck, Ronnie Craft, Heidi Snyder, Patricia Sloboda, Darlynn Gillespie, Joan Faulkner, Lynn Broome, Jeanne Rivenberg, Frances Wilson, Sharon Amend, Sandra Swart, Linda Crum, and the guests of honor.

Scouters Hold Annual District Dinner Parley

Saugerties, June 9—Fifty Scouters and ladies attended the annual District Scouters Dinner held Thursday night in the Methodist Church dining hall.

District Commissioner Kenneth Paxton welcomed all and spoke briefly on the events of the past year. He then introduced the new District Chairman, John Wood, who expressed the wish for a successful scouting year.

Ray Quackenbush, president of the Rip Van Winkle Council, thanked the retiring officers for their work, and congratulated the new officers, also wishing them success.

Frank Teale, assistant Field Scout Executive, urged the Scouters to get more boys interested in scouting.

A movie of Camp Tri-Mount was then shown by Robert Thompson, together with a commentary by Frank Teale.

Playground Opens

Saugerties, June 9—The Lions playground opened its season Monday, the hours being from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., daily except Sundays. The playground is a popular spot with the children throughout the summer. Kenneth Brown and Mrs. Mary Dixon are the supervisors.

Kurdt Lays Stress On Span, Thruway Changes in Travel

Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce spoke at the regular meeting of the Fleischmanns-Pine Hill Rotary Club Monday night. His topic was Transportation and Progress.

After briefly outlining the history of transportation, as it affected the development of the Hudson valley and Catskill mountain regions, he called attention to the reversal of the former trend of people from rural areas moving to cities. Kurdt stated that the completion of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge and the New York State Thruway will intensify the trend for people to live in the country. The shift of importance to the worker and shopper from "travel distance" to "travel time" was also emphasized.

"These changes create numerous problems. A community must now be the kind of a community in which people want to live, which means strong congregations, good schools, recreation facilities, value received for services provided by taxation, broad cultural opportunities, ample parking for shoppers and no traffic delays," Kurdt said.

Finest Ski Center

The need for more citizens to take a more active part in making the community the kind of a place in which people want to live, was stressed. The need for large areas to work together on mutual problems and promotion was also emphasized. This can be followed by fair competition for any individual business to get a share of the increased income.

Kurdt also called attention to the importance of the Belleayre Ski development to the area. He reported that through the office of Senator Arthur H. Wicks he learned that when the present expansion plans, involving about $300,000 are completed, Belleayre will be the largest and finest ski development in the world.

Some tank ships now carry 200,000 barrels of oil and others are being built to carry 300,000 barrels.

George Yerry Wins C-H Lamp Contest Honors

Saugerties, June 9 — George Yerry, Jr., won first award in the lamp contest conducted recently by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company. Other winners from Saugerties High School were Odell Palmer, second and Robert Carpenter, third. These winners were chosen earlier this month by a panel of instructors from Saugerties High School.

George's lamp a beautifully finished driftwood piece, will automatically be entered in the final judging to be held at the Central Hudson's general offices in Poughkeepsie on June 8. The contest got underway last October and more than 2,000 lamps in the area were turned out by woodworking and industrial arts students. There was a wide range of materials employed, including driftwood, wrought iron, leather, copper, glass, pottery, and stone. The outstanding lamps made in the Saugerties High School competition were on display at the local Central Hudson office for a time.

Fire Auxiliary Plans Picnic on June 14th

Saugerties, June 9—Plans for a picnic at Taghkanic State Park were completed at last week's meeting of the Centerville Ladies' Auxiliary at the firehouse. Firemen and their families have been invited to the picnic and each family is asked to take a covered dish plus sandwiches and place settings.

The bus will leave the Centerville Firehouse June 14 at 9:30 a. m.

It was decided that a party will be held in the fire hall August 12.

Twenty-five members were present. After the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. K. Higgins, Mrs. G. Burgemeister, Mrs. M. Shader and Mrs. E. Shader.

Blue Birds Tender Party to Two Leaders

Saugerties, June 9 — The Blue Bird group of the Dutch Guild of the Reformed Church tendered its leaders, Miss Joan Haynes and Miss Patricia Abbott, a farewell party in the church basement Monday afternoon June 1. After the regular meeting, refreshments were served. The table was dcorated in white and rose with large bouquets of flowers.

Miss Lynn Broome, president of the Blue Birds, presented the leaders with farewell gifts and corsages.

Miss Haynes, a fourth grade teacher in the Main Street School, is leaving in June and will take another teaching position in the fall. Miss Abbott, who will graduate from Saugerties High School this year, is planning to enter college this fall.

Those attending the party were Patricia Faerber, Beverly Kellerhouse, Linda Van Tassel, Karen Minkler, Susan Fast, Betty Haines, Carole Finger, Carol Ann Fox, Linda Noble, Judy Peck, Ronnie Craft, Heidi Snyder, Patricia Sloboda, Darlynn Gillespie, Joan Faulkner, Lynn Broome, Jeanne Rivenberg, Frances Wilson, Sharon Amend, Sandra Swart, Linda Crum, and the guests of honor.

Church Women Make Plans at Meeting

At a recent meeting of the board of managers of the Kingston Council of Church Women, it was announced that a two-day conference will be held for Women of the Town and Country Church, on Thursday and Friday, June 25 and 26, at Cornell University.

The conference is sponsored by the New York State Council of Church Women, in cooperation with the Rural Church Institute. It is open to all interested women and further information may be obtained from Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, telephone 812.

Mrs. C. V. Gunther led devotions at the Council meeting. Mrs. Walter Danford was appointed chairman of the Christian Social Relations committee, and Mrs. Harold Osterhoudt and Mrs. Herbert Darrow were named to represent the council at a meeting in Mayor Newkirk's office, scheduled for Thursday. The meeting will concern the day nursery.

World Community Day will be observed as usual, the first Friday in November. This year, it will be held at the Church of the Comforter. Mrs. Frank Elmendorf is chairman.

The current project of the local council is to resume the collection of discarded nylon stockings which are to be sent to women in Japan, who unravel and reweave them into useful items. Those interested in joining in this work, may telephone 3297 or 2268-J.

Miss Barbara Smith Becomes Bride of Joseph L. Jones 4th

Miss Barbara Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Smith of Hudson, and the niece of Mrs. William H. Brigham, this city, became the bride of Joseph Lukens Jones, 4th, of Whitemarsh, Pa., at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, June 6, in the First Reformed Church, Hudson. The Rev. Albert H. VanDyke, pastor, officiated at the ceremony. A reception for 200 guests was held at the Columbia Golf and Country Club.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and carnations, and bouquets of gladioli were arranged in the center aisle. Mrs. J. Scott Moore presided at the organ, and Rolland E. Heermance of Saugerties, sang I Love Thee, Through the Years, and The Lord's Prayer.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white satin. It was fashioned with a V-shaped neckline of scalloped lace; long pointed sleeves and a long skirt terminating in a chapel train. Her fingertip-length veil fell from a cap of matching lace adorned with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and fleur d'amour with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Ellen Coons of Hudson, was maid of honor. She was attired in a ballerina length gown of green nylon, styled with a strapless bodice and stole. Her headpiece was of matching tulle, and she carried a colonial-type bouquet of yellow marguerites and ivy.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ten Broeck, Greenport; Miss Jane O'Keefe, Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. Charles E. Witham, Hudson; and Miss Beth Green of Liberty. They wore yellow gowns designed like the honor attendant's, with matching tulle headpieces and they carried colonial-type bouquets of mixed pastel flowers.

Robert S. Jones, 3rd, Whitemarsh, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Clifford L. Smith, brother to the bride; Peter A. Schrieber, Newtown, Pa.; Jay A. Whalen, New York; William Rebmann, Rydal, Pa.; Robert Hauptfuhrer, Jenkintown, Pa.; and Lowell S. Thomas Jr., Wyndmore, Pa.

The couple left for a wedding trip through the New England States, after which they will go to Bermuda. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will live in Philadelphia, Pa. For traveling, the bride chose a toast silk shantung suit, white accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Jones was graduated from Kendall Hall, Petersborough, N. J., and from Centenary Junior College, N. J. During the past year, she attended the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

Mr. Jones was graduated from William Penn Charter School and from Lafayette College, where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Church Women Make Plans at Meeting

At a recent meeting of the board of managers of the Kingston Council of Church Women, it was announced that a two-day conference will be held for Women of the Town and Country Church, on Thursday and Friday, June 25 and 26, at Cornell University.

The conference is sponsored by the New York State Council of Church Women, in cooperation with the Rural Church Institute. It is open to all interested women and further information may be obtained from Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, telephone 812.

Mrs. C. V. Gunther led devotions at the Council meeting. Mrs. Walter Danford was appointed chairman of the Christian Social Relations committee, and Mrs. Harold Osterhoudt and Mrs. Herbert Darrow were named to represent the council at a meeting in Mayor Newkirk's office, scheduled for Thursday. The meeting will concern the day nursery.

World Community Day will be observed as usual, the first Friday in November. This year, it will be held at the Church of the Comforter. Mrs. Frank Elmendorf is chairman.

The current project of the local council is to resume the collection of discarded nylon stockings which are to be sent to women in Japan, who unravel and reweave them into useful items. Those interested in joining in this work, may telephone 3297 or 2268-J.

Sub-Teens Elect Officers

Barbara Schellhammer was elected to the office of President of the Sub Teen club of the Y.W.C.A. at their final meeting of the year on Monday afternoon. Barbara is a seventh grade student at MJM school this year and has been treasurer of her Y-Teen club. The newly-elected secretary to serve for the coming year is Kathleen Byrne, who has served this year as vice-president of the club. Other officers of the club will be elected in the fall from the seventh grade new members.

As the finale to the club year for both MJM Y-Teen clubs, the Sub-Teen and the Live Y'ers, there was an overnight trip to Henry Swart's Glenerie Lake camp. The group went to the camp on Friday evening and returned to town after dinner Saturday evening. A full program of boating, swimming, square dancing, hiking, and softball was enjoyed by the 31 Y-Teens in attendance. Mrs. John R. Warren, junior high teen-age program director, was in charge of the activities, assisted by Mrs. William Webster, and the Misses Joan Brueckner and Ethel Hornbeck.

Miss Barbara Smith Becomes Bride of Joseph L. Jones 4th

Miss Barbara Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Smith of Hudson, and the niece of Mrs. William H. Brigham, this city, became the bride of Joseph Lukens Jones, 4th, of Whitemarsh, Pa., at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, June 6, in the First Reformed Church, Hudson. The Rev. Albert H. VanDyke, pastor, officiated at the ceremony. A reception for 200 guests was held at the Columbia Golf and Country Club.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and carnations, and bouquets of gladioli were arranged in the center aisle. Mrs. J. Scott Moore presided at the organ, and Rolland E. Heermance of Saugerties, sang I Love Thee, Through the Years, and The Lord's Prayer.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white satin. It was fashioned with a V-shaped neckline of scalloped lace; long pointed sleeves and a long skirt terminating in a chapel train. Her fingertip-length veil fell from a cap of matching lace adorned with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and fleur d'amour with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Ellen Coons of Hudson, was maid of honor. She was attired in a ballerina length gown of green nylon, styled with a strapless bodice and stole. Her headpiece was of matching tulle, and she carried a colonial-type bouquet of yellow marguerites and ivy.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ten Broeck, Greenport; Miss Jane O'Keefe, Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. Charles E. Witham, Hudson; and Miss Beth Green of Liberty. They wore yellow gowns designed like the honor attendant's, with matching tulle headpieces and they carried colonial-type bouquets of mixed pastel flowers.

Robert S. Jones, 3rd, Whitemarsh, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Clifford L. Smith, brother to the bride; Peter A. Schrieber, Newtown, Pa.; Jay A. Whalen, New York; William Rebmann, Rydal, Pa.; Robert Hauptfuhrer, Jenkintown, Pa.; and Lowell S. Thomas Jr., Wyndmore, Pa.

The couple left for a wedding trip through the New England States, after which they will go to Bermuda. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will live in Philadelphia, Pa. For traveling, the bride chose a toast silk shantung suit, white accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Jones was graduated from Kendall Hall, Petersborough, N. J., and from Centenary Junior College, N. J. During the past year, she attended the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

Mr. Jones was graduated from William Penn Charter School and from Lafayette College, where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Wed in First Baptist Church

MRS. HOWARD B. WILLIAMS

The former Miss Joan Marilyn Whitaker of 58 Harwich street became a bride on Sunday, June 7, in the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue. (Pennington photo)

Joan M. Whitaker Becomes Bride of Howard B. Williams

Miss Joan Marilyn Whitaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Whitaker of 58 Harwich street, became the bride of Howard B. Williams, of Lawrenceville street, the son of Mrs. Dorothy Williams Vogt, 75 Prospect street, at 3 p. m. on Sunday, June 7, in the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue. The Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. A reception for 50 guests was held at Nieuw Dorp.

The church altar was decorated with white gladioli, greens and white candles. White satin bows marked the pews. Mrs. Donald E. Brown, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied the soloist, John S. Matthews, in his selections, I Take Thee Dear, Oh Perfect Love, and the Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of rosepoint lace styled with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a tiny collar. Her bouffant waltz-length skirt of lace was posed over tiers of plaited nylon net. Her French illusion fingertip-length veil was secured to a princess crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible and a white orchid with satin streamers.

Mrs. Clifton Quick of 88 Downs street, was her sister's honor attendant. She was attired in a gown of mintgreen imported lace and nylon net, styled with an Empire bodice and full floor-length skirt. A triangular capelet of matching lace and a half-hat, completed the ensemble. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and blue delphinium.

Mrs. William Williams of Lawrenceville street, a sister-in-law to the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. She wore a gown of pastel pink imported lace and nylon net, identical to that worn by the honor attendant. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and blue delphinium.

Miss Sharon Mae Quick, a niece to the bride, was the flower girl. With her period frock of pink nylon net fashioned with shirred detail at neckline and at bottom of floor length skirt, she wore a bandeau of matching flowers and carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds and blue delphinium.

Lawrence Williams served as best man for his brother. The ushers were William Williams, brother of the bridegroom; Clifton B. Quick, brother-in-law of the bride; and Howard S. Whitaker, the bride's brother.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and the southern states, the couple will live at 58 Harwich street. For traveling, the bride chose a dress of red and white silk organza, white linen accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Williams was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '51, and is employed by the New York Telephone Company.

Mr. Williams attended Kingston High School and is employed by International Business Machines Corp., Poughkeepsie.

Junior League Meets In Palenville, Sets Future Activities

Future activities were planned by the Junior League at a meeting Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. C. White, Palenville. Mrs. Sherwood Davis, president, conducted the meeting.

A report of the annual conference of the Associated Junior Leagues of America, held recently at the Hotel Coronado, Calif., was presented by local delegates, Mrs. Arthur Davis and Mrs. James Quinn. The delegates said that throughout, the conference stressed the fact that volunteer organizations are the essence of democracy and the only privilege is the privilege of service.

Mrs. John Roberts reported that the loan closet committee is planning to add two wheel chairs to its list of supplies.

It was announced by Mrs. Peter Corsones, chairman of the Cheer Chain that a party will be given for the boys and girls at the Children's Home, on Tuesday, July 14. She also informed the membership, an expression of appreciation had been received for the service of two members, former teachers, who during the winter months helped a number of children at the Home, with school work.

Mrs. Robert A. MacKinnon, chairman, Senate House Committee, has been assisting Miss Katherine D. Millard at the Senate House, and will give a course for volunteer training in both the Senate House and the Museum.

A children's play will be presented in the fall. In preparation for the event, the League will send two delegates during the summer to a Children's Theatre Conference and Workshop to be held at Adelphi College, Long, Island.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. White's daughter, Mrs. Herbert H. Cutler, Mrs. Herbert Shultz, Mrs. Edward Lefren and Mrs. Paul Perlman.

Receives Degree

RODNEY EDMUND WELLS

Rodney Edmund Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Wells, 325 Lucas avenue, received his BA degree Sunday, June 7, at the University of Rochester.

He majored in history and minored in Education and English and was a member of the Theta Delta Chi Fraternity.

While in college, Mr. Wells was athletic director of his fraternity, participated in intra-mural athletics and was coach of the University of Rochester's volleyball team in the 1952 AAU Finger Lakes Competition.

While serving on the sports staff he was associate editor of The Campus, weekly paper and The Interpies, year book and was radio broadcaster on the university's radio station, WRUR. He also received the Golden R, an award given those in non-athletic extra curricular activities. He was a member of the History Club for four years.

Joan M. Whitaker Becomes Bride of Howard B. Williams

Miss Joan Marilyn Whitaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Whitaker of 58 Harwich street, became the bride of Howard B. Williams, of Lawrenceville street, the son of Mrs. Dorothy Williams Vogt, 75 Prospect street, at 3 p. m. on Sunday, June 7, in the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue. The Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. A reception for 50 guests was held at Nieuw Dorp.

The church altar was decorated with white gladioli, greens and white candles. White satin bows marked the pews. Mrs. Donald E. Brown, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied the soloist, John S. Matthews, in his selections, I Take Thee Dear, Oh Perfect Love, and the Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of rosepoint lace styled with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a tiny collar. Her bouffant waltz-length skirt of lace was posed over tiers of plaited nylon net. Her French illusion fingertip-length veil was secured to a princess crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible and a white orchid with satin streamers.

Mrs. Clifton Quick of 88 Downs street, was her sister's honor attendant. She was attired in a gown of mintgreen imported lace and nylon net, styled with an Empire bodice and full floor-length skirt. A triangular capelet of matching lace and a half-hat, completed the ensemble. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and blue delphinium.

Mrs. William Williams of Lawrenceville street, a sister-in-law to the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. She wore a gown of pastel pink imported lace and nylon net, identical to that worn by the honor attendant. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and blue delphinium.

Miss Sharon Mae Quick, a niece to the bride, was the flower girl. With her period frock of pink nylon net fashioned with shirred detail at neckline and at bottom of floor length skirt, she wore a bandeau of matching flowers and carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds and blue delphinium.

Lawrence Williams served as best man for his brother. The ushers were William Williams, brother of the bridegroom; Clifton B. Quick, brother-in-law of the bride; and Howard S. Whitaker, the bride's brother.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and the southern states, the couple will live at 58 Harwich street. For traveling, the bride chose a dress of red and white silk organza, white linen accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Williams was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '51, and is employed by the New York Telephone Company.

Mr. Williams attended Kingston High School and is employed by International Business Machines Corp., Poughkeepsie.

Junior League Meets In Palenville, Sets Future Activities

Future activities were planned by the Junior League at a meeting Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. C. White, Palenville. Mrs. Sherwood Davis, president, conducted the meeting.

A report of the annual conference of the Associated Junior Leagues of America, held recently at the Hotel Coronado, Calif., was presented by local delegates, Mrs. Arthur Davis and Mrs. James Quinn. The delegates said that throughout, the conference stressed the fact that volunteer organizations are the essence of democracy and the only privilege is the privilege of service.

Mrs. John Roberts reported that the loan closet committee is planning to add two wheel chairs to its list of supplies.

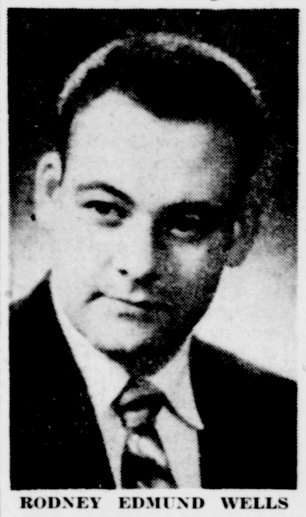

It was announced by Mrs. Peter Corsones, chairman of the Cheer Chain that a party will be given for the boys and girls at the Children's Home, on Tuesday, July 14. She also informed the membership, an expression of appreciation had been received for the service of two members, former teachers, who during the winter months helped a number of children at the Home, with school work.

Mrs. Robert A. MacKinnon, chairman, Senate House Committee, has been assisting Miss Katherine D. Millard at the Senate House, and will give a course for volunteer training in both the Senate House and the Museum.

A children's play will be presented in the fall. In preparation for the event, the League will send two delegates during the summer to a Children's Theatre Conference and Workshop to be held at Adelphi College, Long, Island.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. White's daughter, Mrs. Herbert H. Cutler, Mrs. Herbert Shultz, Mrs. Edward Lefren and Mrs. Paul Perlman.

Receives Degree

RODNEY EDMUND WELLS

Rodney Edmund Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Wells, 325 Lucas avenue, received his BA degree Sunday, June 7, at the University of Rochester.

He majored in history and minored in Education and English and was a member of the Theta Delta Chi Fraternity.

While in college, Mr. Wells was athletic director of his fraternity, participated in intra-mural athletics and was coach of the University of Rochester's volleyball team in the 1952 AAU Finger Lakes Competition.

While serving on the sports staff he was associate editor of The Campus, weekly paper and The Interpies, year book and was radio broadcaster on the university's radio station, WRUR. He also received the Golden R, an award given those in non-athletic extra curricular activities. He was a member of the History Club for four years.

Home Ownership In Kingston Is Above Average

New York, June 10 (Special)—A greater portion of Kingston's population own the homes they live in and the homes are more modern and in better repair than are dwellings in most parts of the country.

Such are the findings of the U. S. Department of Commerce, based on the recent national Census of Housing. The results are now being made public.

Of the 8,755 occupied dwelling units in the city, 56 per cent are owned by their occupants. This compares favorably with the national figure for cities, which shows 51 per cent home ownership. Among all cities in the State of New York the average is 38 per cent.

Better economic conditions locally in the past decade have made it possible for more people to satisfy the urge to acquire their own homes.

As a result of the building boom of recent years and the remodeling of many old houses, a larger proportion of dwellings in Kingston than ever before can now boast of having central heating. The percentage is 73. This is more than is reported for the other cities throughout the country, an average of 50 per cent.

Another of the great conveniences of modern living—mechanical refrigeration—is also to be found in abundance in Kingston. The census figures show that 84 per cent of the homes have it. It is less common elsewhere in the United States, 80 per cent.

More common, also, in Kingston than in most communities are homes with running hot and cold water, flush toilets and bath. The count shows 78 per cent of the dwellings with these features. The average for the nation is 64 per cent.

With the housing shortage still with us, despite the construction activity of the last few years, the value of one-family dwellings has been rising steadily. The report shows that the median value of non-farm, owner-occupied units in the United States has reached $7,400.

Training Requires Good Influence Be Exerted, St. Ursula's Graduates Told at Commencement

In his address to the 22 graduates at the commencement exercises of Academy of St. Ursula on Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Charles O'Leary, C.Ss.R., J. C. D., professor of Sacred Theology at Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, said "you have been trained to appreciate the noble and beautiful things of life. Your task will be to exert a good influence not only in morality and virtue, but in good manners, culture and good taste."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, P.R.,V.F., conferred the diplomas, and spoke briefly to the young graduates. Distribution of honors was made in all classes at the Academy.

Serious and Important Tasks

"Graduation is a day of beginning, of going forth to more serious and important things," Father O'Leary observed. Continuing, he said, "your training at St. Ursula's has brought you closer to Our Lord and His Blessed Mother, and you have been prepared well for the important task designated by God for each of you in the future."

"Some among the graduates may become renowned and prominent in one or another field, but this is not the most important destiny," asserted Father O'Leary, as he reminded the young women that they will have, influence, good or evil, through their example and contact with others.

Concluding his address, Father O'Leary congratulated the parents "whose sacrifices afforded the graduates the invaluable opportunity of a Catholic education."

Responsibility of the Young

Adding his congratulations, Monsignor Drury reminded the graduates that "although you feel that you have conquered the world of knowledge, you must not forget that the knowledge learned from experience is still a closed book to the young." The ones to open that essential fund of knowledge, he said, are the parents, and stressing the words of Father O'Leary, Monsignor Drury reminded the graduates that the future depends upon "the young people who can swing the pendulum toward a good and healthy nation in all respects."

The program opened with a processional and was followed by the singing of Marygrove by the chorus, which also rendered Daybreak by Cuthbert Harris, and Jubilate Amen by Max Bruch. The exercises closed with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Graduates

The graduates are the Misses Myra J. Bared, Mary Catherine Cassidy, Rosalie E. Cecala, Eileen M. Conway, Jane F. Crosby, Joan E. Crosby, Patricia A. Doyle, Annette E. Dussol, Irene J. Netter, Carolann Raichle, Joan M. Wood, Agnes M. Young, Patricia A. Young and Carol T. Zeidler.

Preschool Clinic Planned At Shandaken 3 Days

A dental clinic for preschool children in the Town of Shandaken, ages 3 to 5, will be conducted at the Health Center, Allaben, on June 17, 18 and 19, Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, commissioner of Health of Ulster county announced today.

In this clinic, the children will have their teeth examined and will also be able to see dental equipment. In this way, they will become interested and look forward to future visits to the dentist. Children who have been seen at these clinics in previous years will be given re-examinations June 17. On June 18 and 19, initial applications of sodium fluoride will be made to children who have not attended clinic previously. Appointments will be made at this time for the succeeding three applications.

Parents who are interested in this clinic are urged to call Mrs. P. Rosa, Phoenicia 7927, June 12; Mrs. Laura Pearson, Pine Hill 3297, June 11; or Mrs. Alice Miller, Phoenicia 3243, June 12, for further information and for appointments.

Although the very ancient world did not have tame rabbits, it is believed that the animals were domesticated by the Romans early in the present era.

Preschool Clinic Planned At Shandaken 3 Days

A dental clinic for preschool children in the Town of Shandaken, ages 3 to 5, will be conducted at the Health Center, Allaben, on June 17, 18 and 19, Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, commissioner of Health of Ulster county announced today.

In this clinic, the children will have their teeth examined and will also be able to see dental equipment. In this way, they will become interested and look forward to future visits to the dentist. Children who have been seen at these clinics in previous years will be given re-examinations June 17. On June 18 and 19, initial applications of sodium fluoride will be made to children who have not attended clinic previously. Appointments will be made at this time for the succeeding three applications.

Parents who are interested in this clinic are urged to call Mrs. P. Rosa, Phoenicia 7927, June 12; Mrs. Laura Pearson, Pine Hill 3297; June 11; or Mrs. Alice Miller, Phoenicia 3243, June 12, for further information and for appointments.

Although the very ancient world did not have tame rabbits, it is believed that the animals were domesticated by the Romans early in the present era.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Britt Finishes 51 Years of Music

ROGER BRITT

Woodstock, June 9—Concluding 51 years of orchestral playing, Roger Britt, summer resident of the Maverick, announced his retirement this June from the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. During these years Britt has been violist in grand opera and symphony orchestras in France, England and in this country, playing with the Colonns Orchestra, the London Philharmonic, the Carl Rosa Opera Company, the Scotish Orchestra in Glasgow, and made two world tours with the Quinlan Grand Opera Company.

In this country Britt played with the Philadelphia Orchestra for seven years, with Leopold Stowoski. At one time he was the leader of a hotel orchestra in Atlantic City, and for two years was a bandmaster on a British ship for two years, playing between New York and South America. In 1926 he joined the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and has been with that organization since that time.

Studied Paintings

Before launching his musical career, Britt studied painting in Paris at the Ecole Julian in 1900 and was later graduated from the Conservatoire of Paris where he studied the viola and harmony as well as counterpoint. Britt is a native of Antwerp, Belgium.

Britt arrived in this country in March 1914, when he joined his brother Horace Britt, well-known cellist and former Woodstocker who is professor at the University of Texas, at Austin. Since that time Roger Britt has made his permanent home here.

Britt has been heard in many of the Maverick Sunday concerts, as has his wife Cynthia Eddy Britt, cellist with William Kroll's chamber music group. Mrs. Britt, who married her violist husband in 1946, is from Hartford, Conn., and has been for the past eight years assistant first cellist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. Mrs. Britt studied harmony and counterpoint as well as cello at the Manhattan School of Music, with such well-known teachers as Alexanni'n Giannini and chamber music authority Harold Bauer.

Will Return to Art

Britt plans again to turn his talents to painting, and plans to work in oil, concentrating for the most part on portraiture, with some time spent on still life and abstract compositions.

Mrs. Britt will return to Minneapolis to play with the orchestra next season.

Schedule Given For Art Exhibits

Woodstock, June 9 — Sam Schwartz of the Town House has announced the following schedule of exhibitions to be presented in the gallery of the hotel during the summer season. The first show, an exhibition of paintings by Joseph Garlock will open Saturday, June 13, to be on view through June 25. It will be followed by an exhibition of paintings by Florence Ballin Cramer, opening June 26, to run through July 10.

A group show of work by the pupils of Mark Vukovic will open July 10 to continue until July 24. The work of about 12 students will be included in the show. On July 24, to August 7, there will be a one man show of paintings by Joseph Kantor, to be followed by a show on August 7 of work by Allan Sloan which will be on view through August 21. The season will conclude with a show of paintings by Pat Collins opening on August 21, which will close September 4.

Bus Franchise Sale Is Approved

Woodstock, June 9—A petition has been received by the town board, it was announced at a meeting Monday night, from the Woodstock-Kingston Bus Corporation requesting the sale of the franchise to the Pine Hill Kingston Bus Corporation. The town board gave its approval to the proposition.

Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, announced that social security has been extended to include all town employes.

The town clerk's office will be open as heretofore on weekdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., but on Saturdays will close at 12 noon instead of 1 p. m.

New Regulations

Effective immediately, any new multiple dwelling house in the township will be subject to new regulations. Anyone who contemplates building such a house, such as a hotel, boarding or apartment may obtain details concerning these regulations from the town clerk. These regulations affect every town in New York state. Buildings which are already in operation have until 1954 to complete these regulations. In accordance with the regulations Kenneth Wilson will appoint an enforcement official and fire inspector at the earliest possible time.

Gets Rights to Story

Woodstock, June 9—In the drama section of the New York Times last Sunday, it was stated in Rialto Gossip that "Anthony Farrell has obtained the rights to Ask For The Moon, a melodrama by George Victor Martin from his novel, Mark It with Stone." Martin is a former resident of this village and also a winner two years ago of a Woodstock Foundation award.

Class Schedules

Woodstock, June 9—In the vocational crafts program of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, the silk screen class, instructed by Jerry Jerominek, will now meet one evening a week, Thursday, from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m. The basic weaving class meets Tuesday and Thursday, from 1:30 to 4:10, instructed by Esther Sulizer. Classes in design for the crafts, jewelry and enameling, pottery, stencilling and advanced weaving will be organized for the summer as soon as the required number of applicants have registered. Those wishing to join any of these classes may register with Mrs. Wangler at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen or with Miss Florence Hubbard, coordinator for the vocational crafts project.

Ask More Flowers

Woodstock, June 9—The Garden Club of Woodstock has requested that donations of flowers for the graduation exercises at the Woodstock School on June 19, be brought to the school auditorium sometime during the afternoon before the ceremonies.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 9—Mr. and Mrs. Renato Leoni spent the weekend at their summer residence in Lake Hill. They had as their guest Mrs. Vosk, Mrs. Leoni's mother who is visiting her from California. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Liechty of New York. Mrs. Leoni and Mrs. Liechty spent Sunday afternoon painting in Mrs. Leoni's studio.

Clifford Dunkel of the Trading Post in Lake Hill is having the exterior of his store painted. The painting is being done by his son George, Paul Shultis and Chip Chase, all of Lake Hill.

Mrs. Jerry Jerominek and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes of Long Island, left Saturday for Erie, Pa., to attend the graduation exercises at St. John's Kanty Prep on Sunday, June 7. Mrs. Jerominek's son, Clark Bell was a member of the graduating class. On the return trip Mrs. Jerominek and her son will visit Mr. Jerominek's family in Utica.

Mrs. Harry MacDaniel of Shady went on a weekend trip to Canada with her son and daughter-in-law of West Hurley.

Hobart Rowe of West Hurley spent Saturday afternoon at his farm in Lake Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Adler have opened their Lewis Hollow home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Joel have returned to their summer home in Zena.

R. F. Paige was in this village Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Merlin Wilbur of Lake Hill celebrated her birthday Saturday evening with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Mandrea, formerly of Pennsylvania, now of Lake Hill.

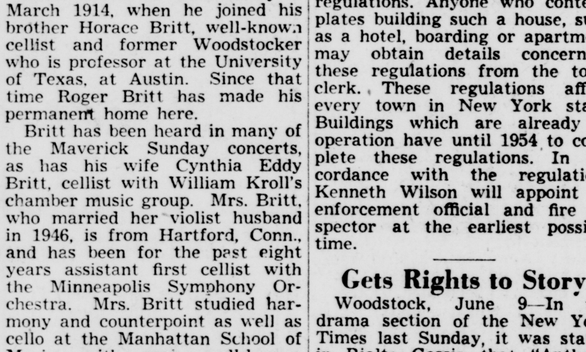

Mrs. Lauren Peters and her granddaughter, Andrea Neher were the guests last Thursday afternoon of Mrs. S. Chase of Lake Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Siegel have arrived from Philadelphia to spend the summer at their home in Bearsville.

Harry Baltz of Bearsville was taken to the Jodat Sanitarium in Saugerties, last Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Hermon More of the Wittenberg road are expected to return to their home here next week for the summer.

Britt Finishes 51 Years of Music

ROGER BRITT

Woodstock, June 9—Concluding 51 years of orchestral playing, Roger Britt, summer resident of the Maverick, announced his retirement this June from the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. During these years Britt has been violist in grand opera and symphony orchestras in France, England and in this country, playing with the Colonns Orchestra, the London Philharmonic, the Carl Rosa Opera Company, the Scotish Orchestra in Glasgow, and made two world tours with the Quinlan Grand Opera Company.

In this country Britt played with the Philadelphia Orchestra for seven years, with Leopold Stowoski. At one time he was the leader of a hotel orchestra in Atlantic City, and for two years was a bandmaster on a British ship for two years, playing between New York and South America. In 1926 he joined the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and has been with that organization since that time.

Studied Paintings

Before launching his musical career, Britt studied painting in Paris at the Ecole Julian in 1900 and was later graduated from the Conservatoire of Paris where he studied the viola and harmony as well as counterpoint. Britt is a native of Antwerp, Belgium.

Britt arrived in this country in March 1914, when he joined his brother Horace Britt, well-known cellist and former Woodstocker who is professor at the University of Texas, at Austin. Since that time Roger Britt has made his permanent home here.

Britt has been heard in many of the Maverick Sunday concerts, as has his wife Cynthia Eddy Britt, cellist with William Kroll's chamber music group. Mrs. Britt, who married her violist husband in 1946, is from Hartford, Conn., and has been for the past eight years assistant first cellist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. Mrs. Britt studied harmony and counterpoint as well as cello at the Manhattan School of Music, with such well-known teachers as Alexanmin Giannini and chamber music authority Harold Bauer.

Will Return to Art

Britt plans again to turn his talents to painting, and plans to work in oil, concentrating for the most part on portraiture, with some time spent on still life and abstract compositions.

Mrs. Britt will return to Minneapolis to play with the orchestra next season.

Schedule Given For Art Exhibits

Woodstock, June 9 — Sam Schwartz of the Town House has announced the following schedule of exhibitions to be presented in the gallery of the hotel during the summer season. The first show, an exhibition of paintings by Joseph Garlock will open Saturday, June 13, to be on view through June 25. It will be followed by an exhibition of paintings by Florence Ballin Cramer, opening June 26, to run through July 10.

A group show of work by the pupils of Mark Vukovic will open July 10 to continue until July 24. The work of about 12 students will be included in the show. On July 24, to August 7, there will be a one man show of paintings by Joseph Kantor, to be followed by a show on August 7 of work by Allan Sloan which will be on view through August 21. The season will conclude with a show of paintings by Pat Collins opening on August 21, which will close September 4.

Bus Franchise Sale Is Approved

Woodstock, June 9—A petition has been received by the town board, it was announced at a meeting Monday night, from the Woodstock-Kingston Bus Corporation requesting the sale of the franchise to the Pine Hill Kingston Bus Corporation. The town board gave its approval to the proposition.

Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, announced that social security has been extended to include all town employes.

The town clerk's office will be open as heretofore on weekdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., but on Saturdays will close at 12 noon instead of 1 p. m.

New Regulations

Effective immediately, any new multiple dwelling house in the township will be subject to new regulations. Anyone who contemplates building such a house, such as a hotel, boarding or apartment may obtain details concerning these regulations from the town clerk. These regulations affect every town in New York state. Buildings which are already in operation have until 1954 to complete these regulations. In accordance with the regulations Kenneth Wilson will appoint an enforcement official and fire inspector at the earliest possible time.

Gets Rights to Story

Woodstock, June 9—In the drama section of the New York Times last Sunday, it was stated in Rialto Gossip that "Anthony Farrell has obtained the rights to Ask For The Moon, a melodrama by George Victor Martin from his novel, Mark It with Stone." Martin is a former resident of this village and also a winner two years ago of a Woodstock Foundation award.

Class Schedules

Woodstock, June 9—In the vocational crafts program of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, the silk screen class, instructed by Jerry Jerominek, will now meet one evening a week, Thursday, from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m. The basic weaving class meets Tuesday and Thursday, from 1:30 to 4:10, instructed by Esther Sulizer. Classes in design for the crafts, jewelry and enameling, pottery, stencilling and advanced weaving will be organized for the summer as soon as the required number of applicants have registered. Those wishing to join any of these classes may register with Mrs. Wangler at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen or with Miss Florence Hubbard, coordinator for the vocational crafts project.

Promoted

WILLIAM J. DUFFY

William J. Duffy of East Kingston, who has been a retail salesman for the area division of P. Lorillard Co., for the past six years, has been promoted to the position of assistant division manager in Detroit, Mich.

Duffy earned the promotion as one of the top Lucky Strike salesmen in the area. He leaves for his new post in the near future. He is a graduate of Kingston High School and is married to the former Peggy Clausi of East Kingston.

Artists Listed

Woodstock, June 9—On Saturday June 20, the Ganso Gallery will open its summer headquarters at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen with a group show by the gallery group and guest artists. Works by the following artists will be included in the exhibition: Edward Chavez, Herman Cherry, Bruce Currie, Karl Fortess, Ruth Gikow, Ethel Magafan, Jenne Magafan, Howard Mandel, Joseph Meert, William Pachner, Alex Redein, Charles Stevens, Tomas Penning, Reginald Wilson, as well as original drawings by Emil Ganso.

Water Bills Mailed

Woodstock, June 9—Mrs. Clayton Harder, town clerk, has announced that the water bills for the three months' period of June, July and August have just been mailed. Payments within 30 days will bear no penalty according to regulations of the water district.

Ask More Flowers

Woodstock, June 9—The Garden Club of Woodstock has requested that donations of flowers for the graduation exercises at the Woodstock School on June 19, be brought to the school auditorium sometime during the afternoon before the ceremonies.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 9—Mr. and Mrs. Renato Leoni spent the weekend at their summer residence in Lake Hill. They had as their guest Mrs. Vosk, Mrs. Leoni's mother who is visiting her from California. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Liechty of New York. Mrs. Leoni and Mrs. Liechty spent Sunday afternoon painting in Mrs. Leoni's studio.

Clifford Dunkel of the Trading Post in Lake Hill is having the exterior of his store painted. The painting is being done by his son George, Paul Shultis and Chip Chase, all of Lake Hill.

Mrs. Jerry Jerominek and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes of Long Island, left Saturday for Erie, Pa., to attend the graduation exercises at St. John's Kanty Prep on Sunday, June 7. Mrs. Jerominek's son, Clark Bell was a member of the graduating class. On the return trip Mrs. Jerominek and her son will visit Mr. Jerominek's family in Utica.

Mrs. Harry MacDaniel of Shady went on a weekend trip to Canada with her son and daughter-in-law of West Hurley.

Hobart Rowe of West Hurley spent Saturday afternoon at his farm in Lake Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Adler have opened their Lewis Hollow home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Joel have returned to their summer home in Zena.

R. F. Paige was in this village Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Merlin Wilbur of Lake Hill celebrated her birthday Saturday evening with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Mandrea, formerly of Pennsylvania, now of Lake Hill.

Mrs. Lauren Peters and her granddaughter, Andrea Neher were the guests last Thursday afternoon of Mrs. S. Chase of Lake Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Siegel have arrived from Philadelphia to spend the summer at their home in Bearsville.

Harry Baltz of Bearsville was taken to the Jodat Sanitarium in Saugerties, last Wednesday night.

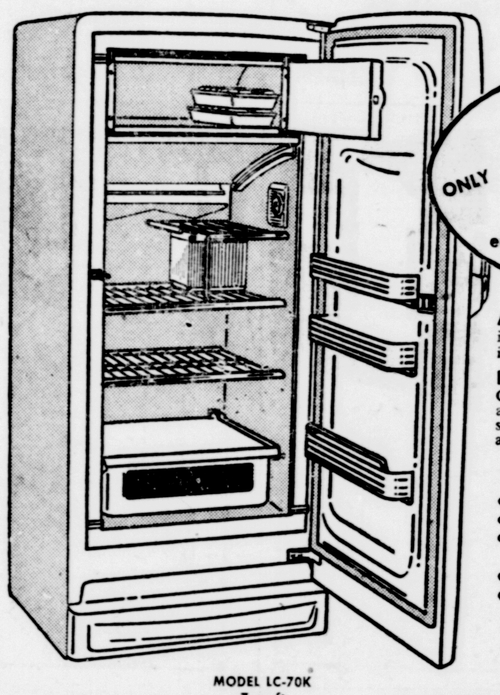

Mr. and Mrs. Hermon More of the Wittenberg road are expected to return to their home here next week for the summer.

North's bidding was a little too ambitious in today's hand, as can easily be demonstrated. When South made a re-bid of one no-trump, he showed a maximum of 15 points. (If South had 16 points or more, he would surely be able to find some rebid other than one no-trump.)

Since North had a count of only 10 points, he could tell that the combined count could not equal 26 points—and a total of 26 points is usually needed for a reasonable play for game.

Maybe South counted on his partner to play the hand with great skill and on the opponents to defend badly. If so, there was no harm in shading his bid by a point or two, because this kind of consideration must be weighed whether you are using point count or any other method of valuing your hand.

West opened the nine of hearts, and East overtook with the ten. South refused the first trick as it was forced to win the heart continuation.

The contract appeared to depend on the success of the diamond finesse, but South had a second plan up his sleeve. He began by leading a low spade from his own hand and ducking completely in dummy.

East won with the nine of spades and led another heart, knocking out declarer's last stopper. On this trick, West discarded the eight of diamonds—a grievous error.

South next led a low spade from his hand, and put up dummy's ace when West played low. A diamond finesse lost to West, and West returned a diamond to make sure of a safe exit.

Since the diamond finesse had lost, South could be sure of only three diamonds, together with five top tricks in the other suits. Since his best chance was to establish a second spade trick, he led a low spade, hoping that West would have to win the trick.

As it turned out, West did have to win the third round of spades with the king. Now dummy's last spade was established for declarer's ninth trick, and East could not gain the lead to run the rest of his hearts.

South played this difficult hand extremely well, but West could have defeated the contract. West should have discarded the king of spades on the third round of hearts. This would have made it possible for East to get the lead if declarer tried to establish the spades; and East could then set the contract with the rest of his hearts.

Farm Cadet Plan To Be Used Again

The Farm Cadet Program will again be available this summer as a help in meeting the anticipated farm labor shortage, it was announced today by the Kingston office of the Department of Labor's Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance.

The cadets are New York city high school boys, many of whom are taking agricultural courses or planning to attend agricultural colleges. They have a primary interest in making farming their career and desire practical experience during the vacation season.

Last year, a total of 66 boys worked in Ulster county under the program.

Through cooperative arrangements with the local New York State Employment Service and the New York city Board of Education, the boys can be made available to farmers in the county interested in their services. The boys are carefully interviewed and selected by both the agencies concerned and only those with a genuine interest in farming are sent for employment, according to Anthony C. Hart, local employment security manager.

Ready Late in June

The cadets are ready to begin work the last week in June and will remain until the re-opening of school in September.

A farm cadet supervisor, in consultation with the farmer, directs and guides the boy's activities during the employment period. He looks after the boy's general welfare and is required to report back to the school authorities the progress made by the boy. School credit is given for the work.

In a summary of the office's May activity, released today, it was reported that a total of 626 persons were placed in jobs at the Kingston office and its branches at Saugerties and Ellenville. This is a 17 per cent increase over May of last year. Of the placements, 107 were in agriculture, 230 in manufacturing, 43 in construction, 46 in wholesale and retail trade, 186 in service including private household, and 14 in miscellaneous jobs.

Average weekly unemployment insurance payments during the month totalled 671, a drop of 116 or 15 per cent under the average weekly payments made in April. New applications for work received during the month totalled 269, with the active file at the end of the month standing at 765.

More Tourists for Britain

London (AP) — Britain's tourist trade got off to a flying start in the first three months of this year. A record number of 96,000 tourists, including 16,000 from the United States, came to brave the cold and fogs of a British winter, a current survey shows. The government-supported Travel and Holidays Association estimates that a quarter of a million Americans will be among 800,000 foreign visitors expected here during a coronation year.

It's ENERGY FADEOUT

Poor Doggy... He Needs RIVAL DOG FOOD

Look at Fido . . . a victim of "Energy Fadeout!" Starts the day full of life, then does a "fadeout." It's so unnecessary, because Rival presents "Energy Fadeout," gives dogs day-long pep and vitality! Rival is a quality product with 21 years of experience behind it; 850 million cans sold to date, and more millions added each week! Rival knows what your dog needs, and gives it to him: several varieties of body-building meat, scientifically balanced with sun-ripened grains, naturally rich in vitamins, minerals, proteins! Chlorophyllin added to prevent odors. Letters from dog owners prove that Rival makes a remarkable change: listless dogs become romping pets; "sleepy-heads" wake up to new energy! Rival does more for a dog, and does it at lower cost! Many change to Rival Dog Food, but few ever change again!

Lippera Is Given Suspended Term

Hudson, June 10 (AP)—Gambler Nicholas Lippera, indicted in the grand jury probe of vice and gambling in Columbia county, is under a suspended sentence of one year in jail.

Justice Henry L. Ughetta of state Supreme Court, who had said Lippera made a "mockery of justice" after entering a plea of guilty to gambling charges, sentenced the 36-year-old Hudson man yesterday.

Lippera was placed on probation for a year. Earlier, the judge imposed a suspension sentence of six months in jail upon Joseph F. Macri, 43, of Albany, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree perjury.

The actions came as a jury of 12 men and one woman alternate was chosen for the trial of Arthur Finch, former Hudson policeman accused of perjury.

North's bidding was a little too ambitious in today's hand, as can easily be demonstrated. When South made a re-bid of one no-trump, he showed a maximum of 15 points. (If South had 16 points or more, he would surely be able to find some rebid other than one no-trump.)

Since North had a count of only 10 points, he could tell that the combined count could not equal 26 points—and a total of 26 points is usually needed for a reasonable play for game.

Maybe South counted on his partner to play the hand with great skill and on the opponents to defend badly. If so, there was no harm in shading his bid by a point or two, because this kind of consideration must be weighed whether you are using point count or any other method of valuing your hand.

West opened the nine of hearts, and East overtook with the ten. South refused the first trick as it was forced to win the heart continuation.

The contract appeared to depend on the success of the diamond finesse, but South had a second plan up his sleeve. He began by leading a low spade from his own hand and ducking completely in dummy.

East won with the nine of spades and led another heart, knocking out declarer's last stopper. On this trick, West discarded the eight of diamonds—a grievous error.

South next led a low spade from his hand, and put up dummy's ace when West played low. A diamond finesse lost to West, and West returned a diamond to make sure of a safe exit.

Since the diamond finesse had lost, South could be sure of only three diamonds together with five top tricks in the other suits. Since his best chance was to establish a second spade trick, he led a low spade, hoping that West would have to win the trick.

As it turned out, West did have to win the third round of spades with the king. Now dummy's last spade was established for declarer's ninth trick, and East could not gain the lead to run the rest of his hearts.

South played this difficult hand extremely well, but West could have defeated the contract. West should have discarded the king of spades on the third round of hearts. This would have made it possible for East to get the lead if declarer tried to establish the spades; and East could then set the contract with the rest of his hearts.

Farm Cadet Plan To Be Used Again

The Farm Cadet Program will again be available this summer as a help in meeting the anticipated farm labor shortage, it was announced today by the Kingston office of the Department of Labor's Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance.

The cadets are New York city high school boys, many of whom are taking agricultural courses or planning to attend agricultural colleges. They have a primary interest in making farming their career and desire practical experience during the vacation season.

Last year, a total of 66 boys worked in Ulster county under the program.

Through cooperative arrangements with the local New York State Employment Service and the New York city Board of Education, the boys can be made available to farmers in the county interested in their services. The boys are carefully interviewed and selected by both the agencies concerned and only those with a genuine interest in farming are sent for employment, according to Anthony C. Hart, local employment security manager.

Ready Late in June

The cadets are ready to begin work the last week in June and will remain until the re-opening of school in September.

A farm cadet supervisor, in consultation with the farmer, directs and guides the boy's activities during the employment period. He looks after the boy's general welfare and is required to report back to the school authorities the progress made by the boy. School credit is given for the work.

In a summary of the office's May activity, released today, it was reported that a total of 626 persons were placed in jobs at the Kingston office and its branches at Saugerties and Ellenville. This is a 17 per cent increase over May of last year. Of the placements, 107 were in agriculture, 230 in manufacturing, 43 in construction, 46 in wholesale and retail trade, 186 in service including private household, and 14 in miscellaneous jobs.

Average weekly unemployment insurance payments during the month totalled 671, a drop of 116 or 15 per cent under the average weekly payments made in April. New applications for work received during the month totalled 269, with the active file at the end of the month standing at 765.

More Tourists for Britain

London (AP) — Britain's tourist trade got off to a flying start in the first three months of this year. A record number of 96,000 tourists, including 16,000 from the United States, came to brave the cold and fogs of a British winter, a current survey shows. The government-supported Travel and Holidays Association estimates that a quarter of a million Americans will be among 800,000 foreign visitors expected here during a coronation year.

Wiltwyck Motors Check Dobler Rally to Win Third Straight

Fisher Stops Foe With Bases Loaded For 10-9 Victory

Losers Score Three In Seventh Inning

Wiltwyck Motors won their third straight City League game Tuesday but not before the Doblers had scared the wits out of them with a last ditch rally that fell one run shy in a 10-9 decision.

The victory put the defending champions in a tie for lead with the unbeaten Colonial Merchants, each with three wins.

The Motormen hammered Gerry Bechtold, late of the KHS staff for 11 hits and staked Joe Digastino to a 10-6 lead going into the bottom of the seventh but Joe couldn't hold it. It required a relief stint by Tommy Fisher and percentage baseball to save the champions from their first setback.

Glaser Starts Rally

Bill Glaser launched Doblers' counter attack with a walk and Bill Olen singled him to second. Digastino tossed the ball into centerfield on a pickoff play and the runners moved up a notch. Allan Vogt's single scored Glaser to make it 10-7 and sent Digastino to the showers.

Tommy Fisher, who was being saved for today's game with Jones Dairy, came on in relief and walked Slover to load the bases. The Doblers went for a pinch hitter, McClure, who batted for Bechtold and promptly rammed a single to center chasing Olen and Vogt across for a 10-9 situation.

Mr. Fisher made like Hoyt Wilhelm in this slightly torrid setup. He fanned George Glaser and got dangerous Bill Tierney, once again a shortstop, on a rap to short. That put runners on second and third with two out and the Wiltwyck strategy was to pass Lloyd Barringer, who already had a homer to his credit. The masterminding paid off as Fisher induced Fred Schryver to roll to short for the final out of the game.

Digastino was not his usual sharp self and Doblers raked him for 11 hits but left 10 stranded. Barringer pounded a homer and single and Bill Glaser and Bill Olen each had two safeties.

Wilklow Loses Homer

A mental lapse by Leighton Wilklow in the fourth inning wiped out a big frame and cost the Wiltwyck shortstop a legitimate homer.

With Minadeo and Passante resting on the sacks, Wilwlow unleashed a tremendous blast to the railroad tracks in deep right center. But he overlooked the formality of touching second base and the mighty blow was reduced to the status of a single.

Augie Passante had two of the 11 Wiltwyck safeties—a single and double—while Joe Passante and Bud Finn each slammed two safeties.

Don Koeppen fired a four-hitter for Alpine Climbers as they trounced Lincoln Park Inn, 8 to 1, Monday, in the City Softball League.

The win enabled the Climbers to tie for second place with Beichert's Studies, who battled to a nine-inning, 1-1, tie with Cherny's. Subway Grill, which drew a Monday bye, leads the pack with five straight victories. Alpine's and Beichert's have 4-1 records.

Koeppen scattered four singles to four different Lincoln swingers, walked one and struck out two. The Presidents averted a shutout in the fifth inning.

Bob Slover pounded a home run and had four RBIs for the Apine's. George Magley was "2 for 2" and Jack Houghtaling clubbed two singles in three trips.

Pitching Duel

Veterans Ed Lowe and Ed Decker hooked up in a brilliant pitching duel in the Cherny-Beichert tie. The Chernys salvaged a tie in regulation time when Van Wagonen singled with two out in the seventh to effect a 1-1 tie. The game was halted at the end of nine because of darkness.

Decker gave up seven hits, including two to Champ Holstein. The Studies picked up five off Lowe. Doubles by Ed Decker and G. Bruck were the only extra base hits in the duel of gooseeggs.

In other games not reported in boxscore form, Sickler's Delivery defeated VFW, 10-6; Esopus Legion trounced Hilltop, 10-2, and Subway Grill drew a bye.

Local Archers Capture Prizes In Oneonta Shoot

Kingston Archery Club representatives won two firsts and a third in the New York state competition Sunday at Oneonta and are now pointing for the July 12 state meet at the local range on Pearl street.

Joe Heidcamp won first place in the novice class, with George Caddy taking third in that division.

First place in the novice free style went to Don Woods.

More than 100 archers from all over the state competed in the Oneonta tournament.

Pirates Rip Braves 15-8 In National

Scoring in every inning, including a six-run first frame, the Pirates clobbered the Braves, 15-8, in the National Little League yesterday.

The victory left the teams tied for third place with two wins and four losses each. Tigers lead the pack with four wins and one setback.

It was the familiar National League story of few hits and many runs. The Pirates collected only eight off Richie Hoffman and Henry Schatzel but still racked up 15 runs.

Mike Spada, one of the league's best twirlers, issued only four safeties and fanned 10 but the Braves finished with eight runs. And all the commotion occurred in five innings before darkness came on.

Doug Mellin rapped a single and double for the Pirates and Francis Reid slammed two safeties. Spada aided his own cause with a two bagger. Paul Turck, John Fiore, Charlie Fuscardo got the other hits.

Four Brave safeties went to Robert Coughlin, a double; Henry Schatzel, Terry Corkery and Charlie McDonald.

Wiltwyck Motors Check Dobler Rally to Win Third Straight

Fisher Stops Foe With Bases Loaded For 10-9 Victory

Losers Score Three In Seventh Inning

Wiltwyck Motors won their third straight City League game Tuesday but not before the Doblers had scared the wits out of them with a last ditch rally that fell one run shy in a 10-9 decision.

The victory put the defending champions in a tie for lead with the unbeaten Colonial Merchants, each with three wins.

The Motormen hammered Gerry Bechtold, late of the KHS staff for 11 hits and staked Joe Digastino to a 10-6 lead going into the bottom of the seventh but Joe couldn't hold it. It required a relief stint by Tommy Fisher and percentage baseball to save the champions from their first setback.

Glaser Starts Rally

Bill Glaser launched Doblers' counter attack with a walk and Bill Olen singled him to second. Digastino tossed the ball into centerfield on a pickoff play and the runners moved up a notch. Allan Vogt's single scored Glaser to make it 10-7 and sent Digastino to the showers.

Tommy Fisher, who was being saved for today's game with Jones Dairy, came on in relief and walked Slover to load the bases. The Doblers went for a pinch hitter, McClure, who batted for Bechtold and promptly rammed a single to center chasing Olen and Vogt across for a 10-9 situation.

Mr. Fisher made like Hoyt Wilhelm in this slightly torrid setup. He fanned George Glaser and got dangerous Bill Tierney, once again a shortstop, on a rap to short. That put runners on second and third with two out and the Wiltwyck strategy was to pass Lloyd Barringer, who already had a homer to his credit. The masterminding paid off as Fisher induced Fred Schryver to roll to short for the final out of the game.

Digastino was not his usual sharp self and Doblers raked him for 11 hits but left 10 stranded. Barringer pounded a homer and single and Bill Glaser and Bill Olen each had two safeties.

Wilklow Loses Homer

A mental lapse by Leighton Wilklow in the fourth inning wiped out a big frame and cost the Wiltwyck shortstop a legitimate homer.

With Minadeo and Passante resting on the sacks, Wilwlow unleashed a tremendous blast to the railroad tracks in deep right center. But he overlooked the formality of touching second base and the mighty blow was reduced to the status of a single.

Augie Passante had two of the 11 Wiltwyck safeties—a single and double—while Joe Passante and Bud Finn each slammed two safeties.

Don Koeppen fired a four-hitter for Alpine Climbers as they trounced Lincoln Park Inn, 8 to 1, Monday, in the City Softball League.

The win enabled the Climbers to tie for second place with Beichert's Studies, who battled to a nine-inning, 1-1, tie with Cherny's. Subway Grill, which drew a Monday bye, leads the pack with five straight victories. Alpine's and Beichert's have 4-1 records.

Koeppen scattered four singles to four different Lincoln swingers, walked one and struck out two. The Presidents averted a shutout in the fifth inning.

Bob Slover pounded a home run and had four RBIs for the Apine's. George Magley was "2 for 2" and Jack Houghtaling clubbed two singles in three trips.

Pitching Duel

Veterans Ed Lowe and Ed Decker hooked up in a brilliant pitching duel in the Cherny-Beichert tie. The Chernys salvaged a tie in regulation time when Van Wagonen singled with two out in the seventh to effect a 1-1 tie. The game was halted at the end of nine because of darkness.

Decker gave up seven hits, including two to Champ Holstein. The Studies picked up five off Lowe. Doubles by Ed Decker and G. Bruck were the only extra base hits in the duel of gooseeggs.

In other games not reported in boxscore form, Sickler's Delivery defeated VFW, 10-6; Esopus Legion trounced Hilltop, 10-2, and Subway Grill drew a bye.

Have Six Straight Skein Going Now

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Overshadowed by the big bad Yankees, the hopeful Cleveland Indians are brewing their own private little winning streak in their Ohio wigwam. If they can nurse it to the boiling point by the weekend there may yet be some excitement in the American League pennant race.

The second place Indians, 5½ games back of New York, have won seven of eight and six in a row in their current home stand against the eastern clubs. Two contests remain against Washington before the Yanks come in Friday night for a four game series.

While the New Yorkers have been blowing down most of their foes with amazing ease in winning a dozen straight, the Indians have had to scramble all the way. Three of their victories, including last night's 2-1 squeaker over Washington, have been by one-run margins. And in five of the games they had to come from behind, or break a tie, to win.

Lemon Wins 7th

Against Washington Bob Lemon gave up only two hits but trailed 1-0 after 7⅓ innings. The Indians loaded the bases with two out in the eighth and got their two runs when pinch hitter Hank Majeski scratched a single off the glove of pitcher Johnny Schmitz.

The Detroit Tigers tried mightily to expand their one-game winning streak at the expense of the Yankees, but failed 3-2 when Tom Gorman stopped them after they had chased starter Vic Raschi.

Chicago climbed back into a third place tie with Washington by defeating Philadelphia, 5-1, on a three-hit effort by Billy Pierce. The Boston Red Sox outlasted the Browns in 93 degree St. Louis heat, 6-5.

Braves Hold Lead

Milwaukee protected its one game National League lead, whipping the New York Giants, 4-2, after second place Brooklyn had snapped Cincinnati's five game winning streak with four home runs, 10-6.

A three-run pinch hit homer by Eddie Pellagrini helped the Pittsburgh Pirates end their five game losing spell at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4. Philadelphia edged Chicago, 10-9, on Del Ennis' ninth inning home run.

After spotting the Yankees two runs in the first inning the Tigers squared matters in the fourth. But Gorman took over with two runs home, one out and a man on base and held the cellar dwellers hitless and helpless until the ninth. They managed a pair of singles in the ninth but couldn't move the tying run past second base.

Winless Ted Gray went the route against the Yankees for the second time this season and lost his eighth straight game.

Four Brooklyn Homers

Home runs came wholesale at Ebbets Field with the Dodgers getting four and Cincinnati two. One of the Cincinnati blows was by Ted Kluszewski, his 17th of the year. It tied him for the league lead with Brooklyn's Roy Campanella and Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews. The other was by Gus Bell. Carl Furillo, Gil Hodges, Pee Wee Reese and Duke Snider cleared the fences for Brooklyn.

Warren Spahn pitched and batted the Braves to victory over the Giants. The veteran lefthander hit a home run and two singles, driving in two runs, while scattering 10 New York hits. Leo Durocher, the Giants' manager, was thrown out for the second straight game.

The Cubs hit four home runs at Philadelphia but didn't have the pitching to hold the Phillies. Dee Fondy crashed a pair for the losers with Ralph Kiner and Ransom Jackson getting one each.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Joe Brown, 137¼, New Orleans, and Luther Rawlings, 146¼, Chicago, drew, 10.

MacPhail Blasts Maryland Commission As Being Unqualified

Baltimore, June 10 (AP)—After more than a month of silence, Larry MacPhail complained yesterday the Maryland Racing Commission "was arbitrary and malicious" in barring him from Bowie race track.

The commission on April 30 found MacPhail had been guilty of conduct detrimental to horse racing by using profane language in a clubhouse argument. It continued his suspension of privileges at the track for a total of 17 days during the spring meeting.

MacPhail had twice failed to show up at commission hearings and never uttered a word about what happened on April 11 when his actions cost him the job as president of Bowie and police charges he was drunk and assaulted a state trooper.

He ended his silence yesterday by issuing a prepared statement attacking the commission. He said the two present commissioners are unqualified and should resign.

In the midst of MacPhail's troubles it was revealed he has cancer of the throat for which he is taking treatment.

Red Sox Crush Yankees, 24-1; Score 11 Runs in 4th Inning

Charlie Boice Hurls 4-Hitter

The old familiar cry of "Break Up the Red Sox" should come up anytime now in the American Little League.

The Moose Club powerhouse displayed tremendous batting punch in clubbing 16 hits to crush the Yankees, 24 to 1, yesterday at the 156th FA stadium.

Winner of five out of six games, the Red Sox have opened up a two-game lead over the runnerup Yankees and threaten to make a clean runaway of the first half pennant chase.

Boice Excels

Charlie Boice, the most consistent pitcher in the loop, checked the Yankees with four scattered hits and fanned seven, while his mates pounded three Yankee pitchers for 16 blows including a rash of doubles.

Red Sox staked Boice to a 4-1 lead in the first inning and that was all he needed. But the winners continued to pour it on in every inning and rushed 11 runners across the plate in the third inning.

Cullum Hits Four

Sturdy Jim Cullum, the Red Sox catcher, led the batting barrage with a pair of doubles and two singles in five trips. Boice helped his own cause with two singles and a double. Don Krueger, the alternate pitcher, slapped a pair of two baggers and a single, a stunt duplicated by Frank Sammons. Tom Cragan also hit for two bases and a single.

Boice scattered the four Yankee hits among four different players — Pete Zeeh, Jerry McDonough, Joe Stopski, and Charlie Tiano.

Red Sox Crush Yankees, 24-1; Score 11 Runs in 4th Inning

Charlie Boice Hurls 4-Hitter

The old familiar cry of "Break Up the Red Sox" should come up anytime now in the American Little League.

The Moose Club powerhouse displayed tremendous batting punch in clubbing 16 hits to crush the Yankees, 24 to 1, yesterday at the 156th FA stadium.

Winner of five out of six games, the Red Sox have opened up a two-game lead over the runnerup Yankees and threaten to make a clean runaway of the first half pennant chase.

Boice Excels

Charlie Boice, the most consistent pitcher in the loop, checked the Yankees with four scattered hits and fanned seven, while his mates pounded three Yankee pitchers for 16 blows including a rash of doubles.

Red Sox staked Boice to a 4-1 lead in the first inning and that was all he needed. But the winners continued to pour it on in every inning and rushed 11 runners across the plate in the third inning.

Cullum Hits Four

Sturdy Jim Cullum, the Red Sox catcher, led the batting barrage with a pair of doubles and two singles in five trips. Boice helped his own cause with two singles and a double. Don Krueger, the alternate pitcher, slapped a pair of two baggers and a single, a stunt duplicated by Frank Sammons. Tom Cragan also hit for two bases and a single.

Boice scattered the four Yankee hits among four different players — Pete Zeeh, Jerry McDonough, Joe Stopski, and Charlie Tiano.

First Football Champs

Rugby rules prevailed at the time Yale won the first football championship in 1876, by defeating Harvard, Columbia and Princeton.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching — Bob Lemon, Cleveland Indians, allowed only two hits in winning his seventh game, 2-1, over the Washington Senators.

Batting — Del Ennis, Philadelphia Phillies, homered in the last of the ninth inning for the winning run as Philadelphia defeated Chicago, 10-9.

As Pegler Sees It

answered that this was "precisely" the way he saw it.

You may have read some of this political propaganda glorifying the man who holds this fabulous $166,100,000 under his arbitrary official hand with power to use it for whatever political ideal he favors, anywhere in the world. But you would never surmise from any of this that Dubinsky had ever been a political ally of Fiorello LaGuardia and Vito Marcantonio, a political association of great importance to anyone trying to evaluate his "program," or that the substitute for Kremlin communism which this cabal is trying to inflict on Europe, Asia, Africa, indeed the whole world, is the kind of socialism that is promoted and exemplified in the works of the so-called international labor office in Geneva.

A niece of Dubinsky, whose relationship you would never suspect because her name is not Dubinsky, but Ida Klaus, got into our labor relations board as general counsel after Robert N. Denham was squeezed out for insisting that the board abide by the Taft-Hartley law. And she also went to Geneva representing "us," meaning you and me, as an official agent of the Truman administration.

The Pope has counselled American citizens with money available for investment to put it to work in other countries so that people may have jobs and civilization may enjoy the benefits that normally would flow from capitalism at its best.

But no American would think of staking a dollar on private enterprise in any European country, including Britain, knowing that his own government, meaning the Eisenhower administration, like the Roosevelt-Truman administrations, is committed to a program of gift-loans of American taxes to all those countries for the development of Socialist government public utilities, truck transportation, mining, insurance and all manner of other works which would compete with the dollar of the American private investor.

If any further deterrent were needed it would lie in the fact that if any profits ever should accrue to the American investor they would be available only for spending or reinvestment in the same country but never could be brought home.

As Sokolsky so knowingly says, many vehement anti-Communists are devotees of that ism left by Marx which is also the basic ism of the Kremlin. And the government of the United States is working hand in glove with Dubinsky, Lovestone and Brown and their whole staff of "ambassadors" in an outrageous program of interference in the domestic political affairs of all nations which have not yet succumbed to Russia.

The Weather

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1953

Sun rises at 4:06 a. m.; sun sets at 7:21 p. m., E.S.T.

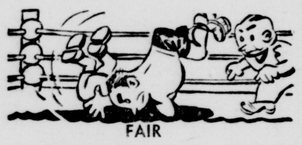

Weather, clear.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 58 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 76 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Sunny and pleasant this afternoon with the highest temperature around 80 degrees. Fair tonight and slightly cooler than last night in the suburbs, the lowest temperature ranging from near 60 in city proper to about 50 in the most northerly suburbs. Thursday, mostly fair, temperatures much the same as today, highest again around 80. Fresh northwest winds this afternoon, diminishing tonight; and moderate northwest winds becoming variable Thursday.

Eastern New York—Fair and cooler tonight with low 42 to 48 in north and 45 to 50 in south portion. Thursday fair with moderate temperature.

New England Twister Kills 85 . . .

families in their homes as they were sitting down to their evening meal.

Others were killed in stores, factories and on the streets.

The tornado struck here less than 24 hours after a similar storm hit sections of Ohio and Michigan with a toll of 139 dead and 1,000 injured and 15 million dollars in property damage.

Center Is Over Worcester

The storm's boiling center struck Worcester and adjacent towns but its destructive force was felt over an area of about 40 square miles.

Pittsfield in western Massachusetts and Exeter, N. H., also felt the effects of the tornado but no deaths were reported there.

Worcester alone counted about 55 dead and 400 injured.

Big houses were lifted completly off their foundations and dropped yards away. Automobiles were tossed as much as 150 feet.

In Holden, Mrs. Ruth Oslund hysterically told police the wind whipped her two-weeks-old daughter out of her arms and out of sight after she ran from her home in the belief she would be safer in the open.

Approximately 150 men searched a wooded area throughout the night for the baby.

Crushed Beneath Truck

One eyewitness told how he saw a mother and her small child crushed to death beneath a big trailer truck that had been lifted by the wind and carried several feet.

Debris from the smashed area was carried by the heavy wind as far as 40 miles away.

A big housing development in Worcester was almost leveled.

Two housing developments in suburban Holden were badly damaged.

A new five million dollar building of the Norton Company, a Worcester machine tool plant, was reduced to a tangled jumble of steel and bricks.

Two Catholic nuns and a priest were killed at Assumption College, Worcester, where a retreat was in progress. Some 100 priests from northeastern states were attending the retreat.

A National Guard officer described the scene at the college as "just like a place that had been shelled." He added that a number of clergymen were in a dazed condition "like shell shock victims."

Three bodies were found alongside Route 20, Shrewsbury, near the wreckage of several automobiles.

Age Ranges Up to 74

The ages of the known dead ranged from three months to 74 years.

Donald Sanborn, 46-year-old farm manager, told of seeing a woman neighbor decapitated and his father-in-law blown away with his house in Shrewsbury.

Mrs. Marjorie Collette, 34, said the wind was so strong "it blew a divan and refrigerator right out the window."

Peter Glinsky, 63, a resident of Brookside Home, said:

"I was walking on the grounds of the home when it grew dark and hailstones as big as golf balls started falling. Then a terrific wind came out of nowhere.

"I saw a big section of a cement sidewalk lifted and tossed 50 feet away."

The downtown section of Worcester, an industrial city of more than 200,000, escaped heavy damage. Most of the dead were reported from the residential sections and suburban towns.

More than 2,000 National Guardsmen from Worcester, Fitchburg and Boston were quickly mobilized to join in the rescue work.

Doctors, Nurses Called

Scores of doctors and nurses were summoned to the disaster scene from all parts of New England.

Red Cross disaster units immediately set up facilities to distribute blood and medical supplies to hospitals and first aid centers in the stricken communities.

In Worcester, volunteers lined up outside a mobile blood donor bank to contribute blood for their stricken neighbors.

Red Cross headquarters in Washington said $100,000 had been set aside as preliminary disaster fund for the Massachusetts communities.

Governor Christian A. Herter declared a state of emergency in the stricken area.

The storm first appeared near Petersham, northwest of Worcester, and struck the towns of Barre, Rutland and Holden before hitting Worcester.

Then it followed a course through Shrewsbury, Southboro, and Framingham and flicked at the towns of Franklin, Wrentham and Bellingham.

The heavy wind tossed automobiles around like children's toys and carried debris as far as the Boston suburb of Milton, 40 miles away.

Authorities said the property damage would be "in the millions."

Before last night's storm, New England's worst tornado was in Wallingford, Conn., 75 years ago. Thirty-four were killed in that twister.

2,000 Students Cry

ed by a green-clad "operations officer" of the Seoul metropolitan police.

One group of about 500 boys tried to brush aside military guards outside the allied news correspondents billets but were turned back. About 600 young men returned late in the afternoon, chanting slogans under the direction of trained cheer leaders.

A throng of about 1,500 students marched around the Chosen Hotel, where UN officers are quartered, chanting anti-armistice slogans and shouting "Yankee go home."

Visit Rumor Spreads

Rumor spread through this capital that President Rhee would visit the U. S. to protest personally to President Eisenhower after the vice chairman of the National Assembly, Yoon Chi Yung, said he had suggested the trip to Rhee.

Jim Robinson, NBC correspondent in Korea, said a "source close to the President" told him only Rhee's health would keep him from a flying trip to the U. S.

The fiery old president's secretary, Chang Ki Bong, smiled broadly when asked about Rhee's health and replied:

"If the President desired to fly to America he could do so easily as far as his health is concerned. He is very fit and in fine health. But he will not go to the United States."

Palsy Film Shown To County Board

Children severely crippled by cerebral palsy and their efforts to use their hands, arms, legs, to speak or walk were shown last night to members of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors at their special meeting in the court house.

An 11-minute color film showing operation of cerebral palsy center at Spokane, Wash., was shown by Charlotte Peck, executive director of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Center, who told the supervisors that it was seeing the western center in operation which influenced her to return to Kingston and establish a center here.

Mrs. Peck, inviting the supervisors to visit the clinic in Kingston said they would see the same heroic efforts for children and that no appointments were necessary for the visit because the clinic is always at work.

The local clinic started a year and a half ago with 26 children and it now is treating about 80, she said, and the supervisors had helped in this work through their making available room on the second floor of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic.

Dewey Might . . .

administer the waterfront controls until a New York-New Jersey agency could take them over.

Another suggestion for city control came from Chief Assistant District Attorney Julius Hefand of Brooklyn, who said he hoped a bi-state agency or a city commission could tackle the problem.

Dewey and Crime Commission Chairman Joseph M. Proskauer made plain their disapproval of a city administration of the piers.

Proskauer said "the city has lain supine on this problem since the turn of the century." Dewey said he thought municipal control would be "a total and complete flop" and would cost twice as much as administration by a state agency, which he has estimated at $700,000 to a million a year.

Cavanagh said the city could do the job for half a million.

This argument apparently reflected the long-standing controversy between the Republican state administration and the Democratic city hall.

Howe in Hospital

Raymond Howe of Port Ewen, deputy clerk of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, is a patient at the Kingston Hospital, after an attack of illness he suffered yesterday while at work in his office at the court house. A report at the hospital today said he was resting comfortably.

New 'Wonder Drug' Comes From Bean

Washington, June 10 (AP)—You've heard of "wonder drugs" extracted from bread mould (penicillin) and from the bile of oxen (cortisone). Now comes a new medical product discovered, of all places in the mung bean sprout juice vat of a chop suey kitchen.

B-N-G tyrosinase is the name approved by food and drug officials for this new substance. It's still undergoing tests by the doctors, but several members of Congress say there's nothing like it for the treatment of burns.

Here's the story, as the record gives it, of B-N-G tyrosinase's discovery:

One day in 1944 two men named Zaremba were boiling down scraps to make hog food in a chop suey canning plant they operated in Oak Lawn, Ill. A boiling vat exploded, scalding nearly a dozen employes.

While waiting for ambulances, fellow employes applied the only liquid they could lay hands on—mung bean sprout juice, extracted from a bushy annual legume and much fancied by chop suey eaters.

Doctors in Chicago hospitals, the account goes on, were astonished to find no blistering, no pain and no shock in any of the scalded patients.

So medical science took over and extracted the healing substance now known as B-N-G tyrosinase from the mung bean sprout juice.

Taft Relinquishes His Activity Rest of Term

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) announced today his hip ailment "is a serious one" that will keep him from being active as Senate floor leader for the rest of this session of Congress.

Returning here from a four-day checkup by doctors in a New York hospital, Taft hobbled on to the Senate floor on crutches and said his administrative assistant, Jack Martin, would issue a statement later.

Marbletown Plans Palsy Show Friday

The Marbletown committee for Cerebral Palsy will sponsor a variety show Friday, June 12, in the Stone Ridge Grange Hall starting at 8:15 p. m. Well-known local entertainers will feature the program.

At 9 p. m., a film will be shown of the work the CP organization is doing in the county, state and nation. Larry Jansen of Kingston will be the speaker.

A free-will offering will be taken and the public is invited.

A wolf to symbolize the Romulus and Remus legend and an eagle to symbolize the Roman standard are kept in the heart of Rome.

Accord Man Found Guilty on Charge

James W. Lucas, Jr., 42, of Route 1, Accord, who was arrested on May 23 for driving while intoxicated by Officer James Burns near North Front and Wall streets, was convicted today by a city court jury.

City Judge Raymond J. Mino fined Lucas $50 and revoked his operator's license.

Testifying for the people were Officers James Burns and Dr. Peter D. Corsones. S. James Matthews appeared for the district attorney's office and Thomas Saccoman was attorney for the defendant.

New England Twister Kills 85 . . .

families in their homes as they were sitting down to their evening meal.

Others were killed in stores, factories and on the streets.

The tornado struck here less than 24 hours after a similar storm hit sections of Ohio and Michigan with a toll of 139 dead and 1,000 injured and 15 million dollars in property damage.

Center Is Over Worcester

The storm's boiling center struck Worcester and adjacent towns but its destructive force was felt over an area of about 40 square miles.

Pittsfield in western Massachusetts and Exeter, N. H., also felt the effects of the tornado but no deaths were reported there.

Worcester alone counted about 55 dead and 400 injured.

Big houses were lifted completly off their foundations and dropped yards away. Automobiles were tossed as much as 150 feet.

In Holden, Mrs. Ruth Oslund hysterically told police the wind whipped her two-weeks-old daughter out of her arms and out of sight after she ran from her home in the belief she would be safer in the open.

Approximately 150 men searched a wooded area throughout the night for the baby.

Crushed Beneath Truck

One eyewitness told how he saw a mother and her small child crushed to death beneath a big trailer truck that had been lifted by the wind and carried several feet.

Debris from the smashed area was carried by the heavy wind as far as 40 miles away.

A big housing development in Worcester was almost leveled.

Two housing developments in suburban Holden were badly damaged.

A new five million dollar building of the Norton Company, a Worcester machine tool plant, was reduced to a tangled jumble of steel and bricks.

Two Catholic nuns and a priest were killed at Assumption College, Worcester, where a retreat was in progress. Some 100 priests from northeastern states were attending the retreat.

A National Guard officer described the scene at the college as "just like a place that had been shelled." He added that a number of clergymen were in a dazed condition "like shell shock victims."

Three bodies were found alongside Route 20, Shrewsbury, near the wreckage of several automobiles.

Age Ranges Up to 74

The ages of the known dead ranged from three months to 74 years.

Donald Sanborn, 46-year-old farm manager, told of seeing a woman neighbor decapitated and his father-in-law blown away with his house in Shrewsbury.

Mrs. Marjorie Collette, 34, said the wind was so strong "it blew a divan and refrigerator right out the window."

Peter Glinsky, 63, a resident of Brookside Home, said:

"I was walking on the grounds of the home when it grew dark and hailstones as big as golf balls started falling. Then a terrific wind came out of nowhere.

"I saw a big section of a cement sidewalk lifted and tossed 50 feet away."

The downtown section of Worcester, an industrial city of more than 200,000, escaped heavy damage. Most of the dead were reported from the residential sections and suburban towns.

More than 2,000 National Guardsmen from Worcester, Fitchburg and Boston were quickly mobilized to join in the rescue work.

Doctors, Nurses Called

Scores of doctors and nurses were summoned to the disaster scene from all parts of New England.

Red Cross disaster units immediately set up facilities to distribute blood and medical supplies to hospitals and first aid centers in the stricken communities.

Red Cross headquarters in Washington said $100,000 had been set aside as preliminary disaster fund for the Massachusetts communities.

Governor Christian A. Herter declared a state of emergency in the stricken area.

The storm first appeared near Petersham, northwest of Worcester, and struck the towns of Barre, Rutland and Holden before hitting Worcester.

Then it followed a course through Shrewsbury, Southboro, and Framingham and flicked at the towns of Franklin, Wrentham and Bellingham.

The heavy wind tossed automobiles around like children's toys and carried debris as far as the Boston suburb of Milton, 40 miles away.

Authorities said the property damage would be "in the millions."

Before last night's storm, New England's worst tornado was in Wallingford, Conn., 75 years ago. Thirty-four were killed in that twister.

New 'Wonder Drug' Comes From Bean

Washington, June 10 (AP)—You've heard of "wonder drugs" extracted from bread mould (penicillin) and from the bile of oxen (cortisone). Now comes a new medical product discovered, of all places in the mung bean sprout juice vat of a chop suey kitchen.

B-N-G tyrosinase is the name approved by food and drug officials for this new substance. It's still undergoing tests by the doctors, but several members of Congress say there's nothing like it for the treatment of burns.

Here's the story, as the record gives it, of B-N-G tyrosinase's discovery:

One day in 1944 two men named Zaremba were boiling down scraps to make hog food in a chop suey canning plant they operated in Oak Lawn, Ill. A boiling vat exploded, scalding nearly a dozen employes.

While waiting for ambulances, fellow employes applied the only liquid they could lay hands on—mung bean sprout juice, extracted from a bushy annual legume and much fancied by chop suey eaters.

Doctors in Chicago hospitals, the account goes on, were astonished to find no blistering, no pain and no shock in any of the scalded patients.

So medical science took over and extracted the healing substance now known as B-N-G tyrosinase from the mung bean sprout juice.

Taft Relinquishes His Activity Rest of Term

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) announced today his hip ailment "is a serious one" that will keep him from being active as Senate floor leader for the rest of this session of Congress.

Returning here from a four-day checkup by doctors in a New York hospital, Taft hobbled on to the Senate floor on crutches and said his administrative assistant, Jack Martin, would issue a statement later.

Marbletown Plans Palsy Show Friday

The Marbletown committee for Cerebral Palsy will sponsor a variety show Friday, June 12, in the Stone Ridge Grange Hall starting at 8:15 p. m. Well-known local entertainers will feature the program.

At 9 p. m., a film will be shown of the work the CP organization is doing in the county, state and nation. Larry Jansen of Kingston will be the speaker.

A free-will offering will be taken and the public is invited.

A wolf to symbolize the Romulus and Remus legend and an eagle to symbolize the Roman standard are kept in the heart of Rome.
